WOODROW WILSON NEAR DEATH

EXPECT CRISIS TO BE REACHED VERY SHORTLY

Members of Former President's Family Summoned Following Turn For Worse---Physicians Consult.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Woodrow Wilson is at death's door.

Wasted by months of suffering, the war-time president is fighting what his physicians believe may be his last battle.

After a sudden turn for the worse during the night he lay throughout the morning hours between life and death. He rallied slightly at noon, and talked in whispers with those about him. In the early afternoon he seemed perhaps to be resting easier, but his attendants saw little hope that the end could long be delayed.

At 1 o'clock his friend and physician, Dr Grayson, announced that the former president was asleep and that his pulse was a "trifle stronger."

A crisis may be reached before nightfall. Dr. Grayson has called in other medical advisers, and Mrs Wilson has summoned other members of the family to his bedside.

"You have done the best you could," said Mr Wilson to Dr Grayson, just before he fell asleep "But I'm a broken machine."

Personal friends inquiring at the Wilson home shortly after 2 p m today were told that the former president was very near death, but that he had awakened from a short sleep and still was conscious.

At 2.30 oclock Mr. Wilson took a little light nourishment although he was very weak Dr. Grayson returned to the sick room with the intention of remaining through the day and night.

Then he added, with a rally of his waning strength, "But I'm ready."

Dr. Grayson, in addition to the force of two nurses and an orderly, already on duty, called in during the morning Dr. Sterling Ruffin and Dr H. A. Fowler, both of whom helped care for Mr. Wilson while he was ill at the white house.

Death Expected Momentarily.

Besides the physicians, only a few of the former president's closest friends were admitted to the house Vance McCormick, former chairman of the democratic national committee, leaving after a short talk with Mrs Wilson, said that death might come today or might stay its hand until tomorrow

President Coolidge was one of the first to send a message of sympathy, when he heard of the serious condition of the former executive. He and Mrs Coolidge conveyed a message in which they included a prayer for recovery

At noon Mr. Wilson had rallid a little, but there was no material change in his condition He was fully conscious and in a faint voice talked with those at his bedside.

Dr. Ruffin, one of the attending physicians, pronounced Mr. Wilson's condition unchanged as he left the house shortly after noon. The physicians will issue a joint bulletin later in the day.

Mr. Wilson was 67 years old on December 28. It has been a little over four years and four months since he collapsed on his special train in Colorado, tfter delivering forty speeches in an attempt to stem the tide of sentiment that had risen so high against the league of nations in the senate. The news of his breakdown was given to the world when, on the next day, September 2, 1919, he was unable to leave his train to deliver an address at Wichita, Kas.

Over a clear track the presidential special sped back to the capital city, and although he was able to walk out of the union station and wave his hat to a Sunday morning crowd that had gathered to see him come home, there was a grave development a few days later and he had been able only for short periods at a time since to appear in public.

He never again has left Washington.

From the special train it was announced by Dr. Grayson that the condition of the distinguished patient was due to overwork, following on the heels of an attack of influenza while the president was at the Paris conference in the early spring of 1919. Even then Mr. Wilson was suffering from nervous exhaustion

During his residence at the S street house, he has received comparatively few visitors some of the distinguished men of Europe, with

WOODROW WILSON.

Former president of the United States who is near death at his home in Washington whom he had shared the leadership of the years of the war, have dropped in for a few minutes during visits here He seemed to enjoy particularly the chats he has had in the past few months with Clemenceau and Lloyd-George.

But he has taken an even keener interest in talking over old times and present tendencies with that little coterie of personal friends that have remained in his confidence during the years of his confinement.

One with whom he often has taken counsel was Bernard M Baruch of New York, and Mr Baruch today was the first besides the physicians to call and personally express to Mrs Wilson his hope for the former president's recovery

His condition showed some improvement yesterday and when he retired for the night it was hoped he might be on the road to recovery He slept little, however, and his physician, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, found toward morning alarming indications of a relapse

"Mr. Wilson had a restless night and has lost strength," said Dr. Grayson after he had studied minutely the changes of the past few hours "During the night he took a sudden and decided turn for the worse. I regard his condition as very serious."

Dr Grayson had spent the night at the Wilson bedside. He had returned to the capital yesterday from a trip in North Carolina after word had reached him that the former president had developed symptoms of a new character.

Change Not Unexpected.

The present complication, although a surprise to those who have been accustomed to see Mr Wilson taking his daily automobile ride through the city or his weekly trip to the theatre, was not wholly unexpected to his physicians

Outwardly the former president had appeared to be in a large part his old self, except for a deepening of the lines of his face and the lingering affliction to his left leg, which prevented him from walking except with evident difficulty. He has gained in weight, and at a distance has the appearance of having taken on a new robustness during his long months of semi-seclusion

During the past few week, too, he has taken an increasing part in public affairs again. He has been very active in his exchange of letters with old friends and admirers over the country and many of his letters have been on topics of current political interest and have been published

Fighting Spirit Unchanged.

On Armistice eve he delivered his first address by radio from his S street home, and it was such a militant utterance on foreign affairs that the whole country realized his illness had not modified the intenseness of his fighting spirit whatever it might have done to his physical alertness

He also received a group of admirers on Armistice day and two weeks ago shook hands with members of the democratic national committee as they filed through his study.

(Associated Press.)

BOULDER, Colo., Feb 1—Chief of Police Claude F Head of Boulder, was arrested late Thursday by Deputy Sheriff Miles MacPhillips on charges of first degree murder The arrest was made following the filing of direct information by District Attorney Louis B Reed, charging Head and Norman Drake with the murder of Patrolman Elmer E Cobb, November 19, last

RAILROADS DOING HEAVY BUSINESS

Bracken Says No Car Shortage Thus Far On the Burlington.

Equipment Has Been Kept Up So That Demand Has Been Met.

E. P. Bracken, operating vice president of the Burlington railroad whose headquarters are in Chicago, visited in Lincoln a few hours Friday morning while on a general inspection tour over the western division. Mr. Bracken spent the morning at the Burlington shops at Havelock. He left at 1:30 this afternoon for St. Joseph, Mo

In his tour over the central western states, Mr. Bracken said he had noticed that business conditions are generally good although a bit spotted in places The railroads in this section of the country are experiencing one of the heaviest periods of shipping of grain and farm products which has occurred for some time. However thus far they have been able to handle all of it without a shortage of cars. Up to Friday morning there was not a shortage reported so far as he had heard, Mr. Bracken said. The railroads in general have been continually adding new equipment with which to meet the demands.

When questioned regarding the prospect for Lincoln having a new depot. Mr. Bracken stated he had nothing definite to say in regard to the matter.

Woman's Club Seeks to Prevent Closing Of Martland Station

Not only the material factors of earnings, expenses, and convenience to shippers are involved in the Northwestern railroad's request for authority to abandon its station at Martland, now pending before the state railway commission, but the more esthetic question as to how it will affect the community's social and intellectual life is raised in a protest filed by Mrs Alpha McPeek and thirty-five other members of the Woman's club at that place

A hearing was held by the commission recently on the Northwestern's application for permission to close up its stations at Martland and Carlisle, two small settlements in Fillmore county, on the ground that the business at each was not large enough to pay the expense of employing agents and handing shipments in and out

"The closing of the station would destroy Martland as a social center,' says the Woman's club memorial to the commisson. "A great deal of work has been expended in building it up as the largest community center in Fillmore county ,and we feel that it would detract and tear down what has been built up.

"We are able by having this community center to keep our young folks at home. Talent from over the state is brought into give programs for the benefit of the community, and we now have engaged talent from the state university for a full evenings program."

It is also claimed by the women that abandonment of the railroad station would destroy Martland as a business place Farmers families come there with butter and eggs, do their trading, and attend the entertainments, says the letter

W. C. T. U. BUYS PROPERTY HERE

State Organization Acquires John A. Lonam Residence at 1617 L Street For Home For Business Women.

$13,500 IS THE PURCHASE PRICE

Transfer Completed Friday But Possession Not Given Until September 1 — Immediate Changes In House Not Contemplated.

The state organization of the W. C. T U has purchased the John A Lonam home, formerly the Edwin Jeary property, at 1617 L street for a home for business women. The transfer was completed today, with the arrival of three state officers of the W. C. T. U., Mrs Lela G. Dyar, Boone president; Mrs Agnes D. Roberts, Omaha, treasurer; and Mrs Mary Lee Seibert, Chapman, corresponding secretary. Mrs. Clara C Clayton of Lincoln is the state vice-president The purchase price was $13,500

The desire of the organization is to open a home for the younger and lower salaried business girl, but admission to the home will not be restricted by such qualifications The home will be non-sectarian and membership in the W. C. T. U. will not be required, nor is the venture to be financially beneficial to the organization

Definite plans about the interior of the home can not be made at present, as the W. C. T. U. does not have possession until September 1. However, immediate changes in the house are not contemplated, although it is possible the third floor may be remodeled into a dormitory in the fall. The house, which is well arranged down stairs, for such a project, occupies a fifty foot lot.

For the present the home is to be known as the W. C. T. U. headquarters, as the state headquarters will occupy offices in the home. The organization is without office headquarters now, the work being carried on from the homes of the officers. All literature will be sent out from the headquarters and a permanent executive secretary will be maintained.

The money for the home has been received from a number of different sources. A part of the $6,500 received by the state W C T. U in the Jubilee drive of 1919 was diverted to the home, Lancaster county contributed $1,000, and will endeavor to raise a similar amount for the fund, and $1,000 of the gift left the W. C T U. by the late Dr B L Paine will be used Each organized county in the state has made, or will make, a definite pledge to the home fund.

Payne has confessed the theft of the auto from a Mr. Bennet, in Syracuse, officers say. Near Dennison, Ia., the car, a Studebaker six, became stuck in a mud hole.

Logan Finerty, Omaha, pulled the car out, and Payne offered to trade cars, Finerty to give $300 in exchange. The boy was unable to do so at once, but Payne traded, the money to be paid later, according to police.

They were taken back to Omaha Friday morning.

Payne told police that he was a doctor and a cabaret entertainer.

MOREHEAD SOUGHT OIL LEASE PROBE

Broke Ice In Congress Demanding Investigation of Teapot Dome Case.

Congressman John H Morehead of the First Nebraska district is the man who broke the ice in congress a week ago by offering a resolution in the house for the cancellation of the Teapot Dome oil lease The senate has since passed a resolution of this kind, and others have been presented in both branches bearing upon different phases of the oil lease scandal

Being a new member, Congressman Morehead modestly waited awhile for some of the old-timers to introduce a resolution on the subject, but none of them did so When he finally presented his, the older member suddenly began to show interest in the subject, the result being adeluge of similar resolutions,

Following is the text of the Morehead declaration as offered January 25:

"Whereas an the 7th day of April, 1922, a lease executed by the United States, by the then secretary of the interior, Honorable Albert B. Fall, and Honorable Edwin Denby, secretary of the navy, acting for the United States, to the Mammoth Oil Co., as represented by H. F. Sinclair; and

"Whereas it now appears that said lease conveyed, or attempted to convey to the said Mammoth Oil Co. al lof the oils, gases, and minerals in what is known as petroleum reserve No. 3; and

"Whereas it now appears that said lease was corruptly obtained; therefore be it

"Resolved, that said lease of said date, and all modifications and contracts made thereunder, and all rights and immunities thereunder granted, is and are hereby canceled; that all of the rights and resources therein sought to be conveyed, are hereby restored to the possession of the United States, and shall be held and retained for the use and benefits for which they were dedicated by executive order prior to the execution of said lease; that there shall be an accounting had by said lesse and assignees with the United States for all oils, gases, and minerals by it taken from said lands."

Carriers Say No Acute Shortage Of Cars In Sight

Although complaints of local car shortage have reached the state railway commission from some towns in Nebraska, information from the various carriers is that no acute general shortage is in sight.

The farmers' union at Valentine wired Friday morning that its elevator, coal bins, and warehouse were full of new corn, and that seven carloads have been held for a week because it could not get the cars moved

A shipper at Cortland sent word that cars were being taken from there and sent west The Union Pacific admitted this was true, but justified the action on the ground that an extreme shortage exists west of North Platte and had to be taken care of first.

Two complaints were also received from Burlington stations, but they had to do more with the distribution of cars among shippers there than with the failure to supply cars needed for grain shipment.

DOHENY SAYS GREGORY WAS HIS ATTORNEY

McAdoo Also Employed by Oil Interests But Neither Had Part In "Fall Leases," Millionaire Testifies.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Both William G. McAdoo, democratic candidate for the presidential nomination and Thomas W. Gregory, the democrat chosen by President Coolidge to prosecute the government's oil lease cases have been employed by oil interests, E. L. Doheny, California operator, testified today before the senate oil committee.

Mr. Doheny said his company had employed Mr McAdoo to represent it in Washington on Mexican affairs shortly after he left the cabinet.

Mr. McAdoo received $250,000 "all told from our company," Doheny said, adding that Mr McAdoo still "represents us in Mexico"

"Our company and half a dozen others employed Mr. Gregory to represent them before the president in regard to getting permits to drill oil wells in Mexico," said Mr. Doheny. "Our share of the fee was $2,000"

The witness said Mr. McAdoo had represented his company in Washington until the end of the Wilson administration. He now has "general retainer" to represent his company in any and all matters, he added.

Garrison Employed.

Mr Doheny said Lindley M. Garrison, former secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet, had been employed by Blair and company, a New York banking firm of which Denby is a director

Referring to the employment of former Secretary Franklin K. Lane of the interior in the Wilson cabinet, Doheny said his salary was $50,000 a year.

Mr. Doheny declared he never had had any financial transactions with officials other than that to which he had testified concerning the loan to Mr Fall.

With reference to the employment of Mr. Gregory, the witness said he was selected because it was assumed he had entry to the white house.

At that time, he added, Mr. Gregory was counsel for the Island Oil company and that company suggested his employment for the special purpose of intervening with President Wilson on the Mexican matter.

Discovery Just Made.

Mr. Doheny said he had "only learned yesterday" of the employment of Mr. Gregory upon examination of the books.

Questioned by Senator Bursum, republican, of New Mexico, Mr. Doheny said Mr. McAdoo's salary is $50,000 a year.

Asked which had been the more valuable, the services of Mr. Fall or those of Mr. McAdoo, the witness said, "The services rendered by Mr. Fall, Brandegee and Mr. Smith for Americans abroad everywhere were of greater value than that of any other men in those days."

Mr. Doheny said he referred to Senator Brandegee, republican, Connecticut, and former Senator Mark Smith, democrat, Arizona. They were members of a foreign relations subcommittee on Mexican affairs in the days when Mr. Fall was a senator.

Replying to inquiries by Senator Adams, democrat, Colorado, Mr. Doheny said Mr. McAdoo "had no part" in the negotiations of his company with Mr. Fall for the lease of California naval reserve No 1.

"He represented us in the west," he said

Felt "Under Obligation"

Examined by Senator Bursum, republican, New Mexico, Mr. Doheny said he felt he was "under obligation" to Mr. Fall for "services rendered" by him in regard to Mexican affairs when Mr. Fall was chairman of a senate foreign relations subcommittee.

Pressed as to how "strong" his friendship for Mr. Fall is, "Mr. Doheny said if the former secretary were out of a job tomorrow and in good health he could "get employment with me."

"Would you loan him $100,000 again?" asked Senator Bursum.

"Under the present circumstances, I don't think I would," the witness replied, amid laughter.

Attempts made by him to obtain a lease of the Teapot Dome naval reserve in 1920, were described by Mr. Doheny. He said he had entered into a contract with Leo J. Stack of Colorado, and had furnished $8,250 in cash to help finance the transac-

FAIL TO SETTLE CHURCH DISPUTE

Trial Starts Friday In Injunction Suit Brought By Ten Members.

Defense Attorney Says Court Action Result of Fight On Pastor.

Efforts to settle the injunction suit brought by ten members of the German Evangelical church against the officers of the church to prevent their expulsion from membership were unavailing and trial of the case started before District Judge W. E. Stewart Friday.

The courtroom was crowded with members of the church, who waited Friday morning while the attorneys attempted to settle the matter out of court. The final decision that the case was to be tried was reached shortly before noon.

W. B. Comstock, attorney for the church officers, objected to the hearing of the case under any circumstances, maintaining civil courts have no right to interfere in church matters. He charged the whole affair was the result of a fight on the pastor by a small group of members.

The case was to have been tried Thursday but a continuance to Friday morning was granted to allow translation of part of the church laws into English.

The ten complaining members claimed that they were about to be expelled from the church because they had defended seventeen others who were expelled for making disparaging remarks about the pastor, Rev. A. W. Sarembo. They asked an injunction to prevent this until the church board of appeal met to consider the appeal of the original seventeen.

FALL IS ABLE TO GIVE TESTIMONY

Special Medical Commission Reports Condition Is "Fairly Good."

Presence To Be Required Before Senate Committee Saturday Morning.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1. — Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, is in condition to appear for examination in the senate oil inquiry, the investigating committee was told today by the special medical commission appointed to examine him.

Chairman Lenroot announced that on the basis of the report a new subpoena would be issued for Mr. Fall, requiring his presence before the committee at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The committee of physicians appointed after Mr. Fall's doctors had reported him unable to go before the committee, submited a written statement which said the former secretary was under a nervous strain, but that his general appearance was fairly good.

Of the twenty permits taken out, those issued for the construction of residences totaled $27,075. Permits for business buildings amounted to $54,100. The largest permit was that of the Gillen & Boney company for $25,000.

Compared with the same period a year ago, 1924 permits took a slump, there being forty-nine permits issued in January 1923. They aggregated $95,698.

Dawes Pays Visit To Berlin Children

BERLIN, Feb., 1.—Brig. General Charles G. Afterward, accompanied by American relief workers, General Dawes visited the elementary schools, where he was shown under-nourished children of various ages.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Without debate, the house today passed the Walsh resolution, already approved by the senate directing the president to bring about cancellation of the Doheny and Sinclair naval oil reserve leases

The vote was 120 to 4. The leaders agreed to forego debate in deference to Woodrow Wilson.

HITCHCOCK AND ALLEN IN RACE

File For Delegates At Large to Democratic National Convention.

Governor To Attend Big Meeting But In An Unofficial Capacity.

Nominating petitions with 5,548 names attached, gathered in 84 counties of Nebraska, were filed with Secretary of State Pool on Friday, for T. S. Allen of Lincoln and former United States Senator G. M. Hitchcock of Omaha for delegates at large to the democratic national convention. They were presented by Mr. Allen in person. In each congressional district the required quota of 500 signers was greatly exceeded, being more than twice as many in several districts

Each petition contained the names of both candidates. Messrs Hitchcock and Allen are the first to be filed for democratic delegates at large. Four are to be elected, and it is understood that ex-Governor Keith Neville of North Platte and J. J. Thomas of Seward will file for the other two places

Mr Allen said that he is not committed to any presidential candidate and expects to go to New York as a free lance. No understanding exists, he declared as to whom the Nebraska delegates will support after they get there, or as to binding them to anyone through the preferential vote in the state primary. Up to date, no filing has been made in this state for any presidential candidate, except one for Ford on the third party progressive ticket which came in several months ago before he declared himself for Coolidge.

Mrs. Marie Weekes of Norfolk, formerly connected with the progressive party, may file as a democratic candidate for delegate in the Third congressional district Mrs. Jennie Callfas of Omaha will file for re-election as national committeewoman for Nebraska.

Governor to Attend Convention.

Governor Bryan is expecting to attend the national convention at New York, June 24, though not as a delegate. He may receive the complimentary votes of Nebraska delegates for the presidential nomination, and in case of a protracted contest opening up the field for dark horse candidates his friends think he may develop a good deal of strength. There has been a good deal of talk in the east about nominating him for vice president.

"I shall not take advantage of the secretary of state's ruling that a candidate for office might run at the same time for the honorary position of delegate," the governor told newspaper men "The democrats of Nebraska have been so generous in their treatment of me that I have no thought of standing in the way of others who might desire recognition by being sent as delegates to the convention."

Mr. Bryan stated that if he could arrange his official business so as to get away for the week of June 24, the date of the democratic national convention, he would go. He will pay his own expenses on the trip, as he did when he visited Washington two weeks ago at the time of the national committee meeting.

JUDSON NAMED NEW HEAD OF UNI. REGENTS

Omaha Man Says More Money Must Be Appropriated For School.

Urges New Buildings and Higher Salaries For Some of Faculty.

Frank W. Judson, of Omaha, has been elected president of the board of regents of the state university, it was announced Friday by Chancellor Avery.

In a statement given out today, Mr. Judson says that more money is needed if the University of Nebraska is to keep pace with other institutions of its kind; that more buildings are needed and that higher salaries must be paid to some of the faculty members "or their valuable services will be lost."

Mr. Judson was elected president of the board at a meeting held January 22, but he was not apprised of his election until his return from an eastern business trip

Mr. Judson's Statement.

His statement follows:

"Upon my return to Omaha this morning I have learned of my election to the position of president of the board of regents of our state university. I appreciate the compliment and this evidence of confidence on the part of my associates. I am sure I will have the hearty co-operation of the board of regents and that our activities will continue to be along lines that will meet with the approval of the tax payers of this state

"The most important business in this state is the education of our children. This is done through a great system of public schools, elementary, secondary and higher—our university is the head, not because it is more important than other schools, elementary, high and college, but it is the institution in which the students complete their preparation in whatever may be their selected line for future service

"It is less difficult to make a university efficient than it is to prove its efficiency to the public No matter what work a man or woman undertakes they can do it better if well informed. Education is surely the best equipment for any start in life Each year physicians, lawyers, engineers, teachers and young men and women in other specialized professions are leaving our university capable of rendering the best service. Graduates from our college of business are prepared and ready for high class service in industrial lines Those leaving our agricultural college are surely best equipped to meet successfully the new and different problems of the farmer and industries dependent on agriculture.

Operated In Economical Manner.

"Our university should have the constant support and co-operation of every teacher employed in this state, every alumnus, (no matter where located in Nebraska or outside of our state)—every citizen and taxpayer The people of the state of Nebrask from the sheer standpoint of self interest cannot afford to neglect their state university. It is the most potent, single agency in the state. The state legislatures of Nebraska have appropriated during the past four years for our university a very small amount of money, not sufficient to enable the university to make improvements and the advancement in numerous departments that would be possible with more liberal allowances I appreciate the fact that conditions in this section during this period have not been good and that it is not advisable to endeavor to progress too rapidly under such conditions I believe, however, we have reached the point where we must have more money for the conduct of the university. The cost per student for the maintenance and operation of the University of Nebraska is below that of any other state university occupying a position similar to that we enjoy. Our university is being operated in a most economical manner If, however, we are to keep in the race and maintain our position with other state universities we must think in new terms of the support of our university. Some new and modern buildings are necessary—new equipment required to replace that worn beyond repair or out of date—more teachers are needed in some departments — higher salaries must be paid to some of our faculty or their valuable services will be lost. It is my hope that every citizen in this state interested in education will become more active in their support of our university and co-operate with us to obtain the support, financial and otherwise, that is needed at this time.

FRANK M. JUDSON,"

Letters of Mrs. De Bouchel to Asa G. Candler Are Revealed In Suit For Half a Million Dollars

(Associated Press)

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 1.—Reading of letters in Mrs. Onezima De Bauchel's $500,000 breach of promise suit against Asa G Chandler, sr., of Atlanta, was expected to be resumed today in the United States district court.

Baring the inner secret of the heart of Mrs De Bouchel, her growing attachment for Mr. Candler, her decision to seek a divorce in Reno from Adolph Crocquet of New Orleans, her pangs of loneliness while "sojourning" the required time in Nevada, a series of twenty-one letters whitten by Mrs De Bouchel to the Atlanta capitalist, were read into court yesterday.

The first letter written from New York City and concluded with "the very best of good wishes" and the final letter heard by the jury yesterday, dated March 1921, ended with "sweetheart mine, remember that I love you always and that to me you are the most precious thing in ten thousand worlds."

Mr. Candler yesterday began introducing evidence, through his attorneys, in the suit which Mrs De Bouchel brought against him Mr. Candler contends, his attorneys announced, that Mrs De Bouchel's engagement to him in 1922 was invalid because at the time she was the wife of Adolph Rocquet of New Orleans. The decree at Reno, Nev, in September, 1921, divorcing her from Mr. Rocquet, defendant's counsel said, was not valid because Mrs. De Bouchel was not a resident of that state at that time

This contention was outlined to the jury by Mr. Candler's attorneys shortly before court adjourned. The argument was advanced during the introduction of a number of letters from Mrs. De Bouchel to Mr Candler, several of which were signed "Mrs. Rocquet," by which name she was known before she obtained a divorce

Many Depositions Read.

Several additional letters to Mr. Candler from Mrs. De Bouchel were read and voluminous depositions in support of the New Orleans' woman's good character was put in the evidence. No witness was called to the stand.

The depositions were from citizens of New Orleans and Reno, Nev The first was that of Dr. Albert T Roquet, New Orleans physician, a brother of Mrs De Rouquet's former husband, Adolph Rocquet. He had never heard anything derogatory to Mrs. De Bouchel's character, he stated.

Mrs. Rocquet, wife of the physician also testified to the good character of Mrs De Bouchel, stating that Mrs De Bouchel "was a welcome visitor in her home."

Mrs. Rhea Bachemin, another New Orleans witness, whose statement was read, asserted Mrs De Bouchel's character was excellent declaring that she "had known her as a sister"

Dr. Oscar Dowling, president of the Louisiana state board of health, John Lejier, president of the American Bank and Trust company; Dr Joseph A. Danna, physician, and Mrs. Margaret Hunt Brisbane, all of New Orleans, made depositions favorable to Mrs. De Bouchel and telling of her excellent character and reputation.

Hotel Man Approached.

A deposition from H. J Gosse, a Reno, Nev, hotel man, stated that Mrs. De Bouchel had stopped at his hotel frequently between 1920 and 1922. He said he was approached by a man named "Cochran" who said he represented the Candler interests and was seeking information concerning Mrs. De Bouchel.

"He said he wanted something detrimental to Mrs De Bouchel's character," the deposition said "I told him I did not know anything detrimental to her character"

Henry Reiter, residing near Reno, declared in his deposition that two young men came to him and said they represented Mr. Candler and wanted to know if Mrs De Bouchel had ever been to the bathing and pleasure resort he operated, with men He said he told them he had seen her on one occasion with Mr Candler and another time "with a friend of Mr Candler's"

"That's now very encouraging to us We would like to get something on her," his deposition quoted one of the young men as saying

Several of the Reno residents referred in their depositions to a young man named "Cochran" who said he was employed by the Candler interests and who questioned them concerning Mrs De Bouchels conduct.

The introduction of Mrs De Bouchels letters to Mr Candler by his attorneys, produced something of a sensation, as there had been no indication that the letters would be offered in evidence. Mrs. De Bouchel letters dated as far back as October, 1919, shortly after she met Mr Candler at a confederate veterans' reunion in Atlanta

Speaks of Reno.

The earlier letters which revealed her impending divorce proceedings and disclosing her dread of an enforced residence in Reno, she stated in a leter written from New York City on December 4, 1920, that she "received aletter from Mr. R. today which was very disturbing. He is trying to make up again That is absolutely impossible Again a dear letter came from you and was very deeply appreciated and enjoyed." . . . You have the most beautiful character I have ever known and I am so proud of you, so proud that you are mine'

The letter closes: "I want to be part of the very fabric of your life "Your Sweet One."

On December 12, 1920, Mrs. De Bouchel wrote from New Orleans, beginning with the salutation:

My Darling:

"I have just been through a terrible ordeal and I am weak, limp and all upset, in no condition to write, but I feel you should known all that has occurred Mr R. called on me and we had an awful scene At first he begged me to make up with him, said he loved me better than anything in life; promised to do anything that I wished, etc. . . . He flew into a rage and said that he would fight my divorce to the very last ditch and would never, never, never, let me have my divorce. . . .

"Finally he calmed down, shifted his ground and said very well, he certainly would not try to hold me against my will, but since I wanted my freedom I would have to pay for it . . . He said he would not contest the case if I paid him twelve thousand dollars'

"He threatens to stop at nothing to prevent me from getting my freedom,' the letter continues. "I do not see what he can do; he cannot attack my reputation.

Loves Only Candler.

"I shall come to no decision without hearing from you. But I want you to remember this I love you and you only, my only hope of happiness is with you and under no circumstances will I ever make up with Mr. R Write me immediately all that is in your heart. I must know. I feel like leaving now for Reno, just as soon as I hear from you and letting the thunder break—on the other

The remainder of the letters read before the adjournment of court dealt with Mrs De Bouchels activities in Reno and expressed regret that she must spent an enforced residence of six months there

One letter stated: "Time will drag terribly between now and the time when I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again, feeling your sincere handclasp and listening again to the music of your voice.

The same leter suggested that Mr. Candler spend his summer vaction in southern California, "which is so much nearer me," and closed "Lovingly, your sweet one"

On March 6, 1921, a letter stated: "It is so sweet of you to be a regular correspondent and when a single day goes by without a leter I feel that the sun of my life is extinguished Dearest heart, I am returning the itinerary you sent last week with a wonderful joy surging in my soul, when I think that in a very few weeks I shall have the pleasure of seeing you again after this eternity of waiting . . . Sweetheart mine, remember that I love you always and that to me you are the most precious thing in ten thousand worlds.

"Dvotedly, Sweet One.'

DAKOTA BANKING SITUATION GOOD

Secretary Of State Association Says Majority Are "Solid."

(Associated Press)

MITCHELL, S. D, Feb. 1.—Declaring that less than 5 per cent of the banks of South Dakota have been closed in the recent flurry and that most of the remaining 95 per cent are in good condition, L. J. Welch, secretary of the South Dakota bankers' association, today issued a statement expressing confidence in the situation The statement said:

"Just because efforts by the national administration to provide credit for the entire northwest have been made at the time when a few banks in South Dakota have failed, the banks of this state and the state as a whole have received very unfavorable publicity which has created a distinctly wrong impression as to the financial situation in South Dakota.

"South Dakota is just now realizing on the biggest money crop produced by its farms in four years Business firms have long since written off losses resulting from the deflation of 1920 and the failure of some of the banks of the state to do the same thing accounts almost entirely for the bank failures that have recently taken place in this state"

MELLON EXPLAINS SALE SNSPENSION

Government Withdraws Treasury Certificates In Seventeen States.

Step Taken to Permit Use of Local Funds In Depression Relief.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The government by stopping the sales of its treasury certificates in seventeen western and middle western states yesterday stepped aside that local funds hereafter may be applied to the relief of agriculture and banks in the stringent credit area.

Sale of the treasury certificates through the postoffice—the medium used to reach the moderate investor—was ordered stopped by Postmaster General New. Secretary Mellon agreed to the action in the belief that it may prove of benefit in the districts where prolonged agricultural depression has developed a stringent credit condition among banks.

The suspension of sales, which effectually removes the certificates from the money market, applies to North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Arkansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico, Idaho, Arizona and Montana. It supplements an order issued ten days ago by the postoffice department in which postmasters were instructed to discontinue advertising the certificates and soliciting their sale.

The order does not, however, affect deposits in the postal savings system which will continue receiving funds as in the past.

Desires to Co-operate.

In agreeing to the plan of the postmaster-general, treasury officials made it clear they did not believe the funds taken out of any district by investments in savings certificates were sufficient to hamper financial rehabilitation. Secretary Mellon desires to co-operate with other agencies of the government, it was declared, and believes the cessation of sale of the certificates may have an important psychological effect.

Early in the day, Mr. Mellon had denied that the treasury had under consideration any change in its policy of rejecting investment in the certificates.

The treasury cited figures in support of this view showing that there had been a reduction of about one-half in the total amount of certificates outstanding in the last twelve months There were certificates of a face value of $729,000,000 outstandingDecember 31, 1922, while a year later the outstanding certificates aggregated $376,000,000 or a return to investors within the year of $353,000,000.

Although the figures are for the whole country, the treasury secretary believes they accurately show how unimportant the drain has been on the funds of any locality.

News Briefs From the Entire World

WASHINGTON — Immediate redemption of the two issues of treasury certificates of indebtedness maturing March 15, 1924, was authorized last night by Secretary Mellon. The two issues, one dated March 15, 1923, and the other September 15, 1923, aggregate approximtaely four hundred million dollars.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"I feel that I ought to let you know about my case.

I was ailing and couldbarely do my housework and washing I was so run-down, just from having one child. I took a lot of medicines and had doctors. Then I gave them all up and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel wonderfully good now. I do every thing that comes along, and we all take your medicine as a tonic when we don't feel just so. I am thankful for what the Vegetable Compound has done for my health and for my family."—Mrs. MARY SAIECHECK, 944 28th St., Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

Letters like these testify to the value of the Vegetable Compound. These women speak from the fullness of their hearts. They describe as correctly as they can their conditions: First, those symptoms that affected them most conspicuously; and later the disappearance of those symptoms. SCHOOL OFFICERS IN CONSOLIDATION

Two Associations Are Merged In Meeting Held At Grand Island.

Big Surplus Of Rural Teachers Being Trained In State This Year.

GRAND ISLAND, Feb. 1.—(A. P.)—"The Nebraska school board association" was born here when the recommended constitution submitted by a joint committee of the former two bodies was adopted by a unanimous vote of the convention of the former "Nebraska association of school boards and school executives" and "the Nebraska association of city school boards." The new association of officers will elect officers late Friday.

Addresses by the two retiring presidents reviewed general conditions.

State Normal Training Inspector Burnham brought out the fact that following the graduation of this year's class of normal training students there will probably be more than 500 holding the second grade rural certificates for whom there will be no opening in Nebraska. Last year, he said there were 300 in this predicament.

"Brainy, brawny, red-blooded activity of the highest type for its students' 'is the goal which the school board was urged to obtain, in a paper by Dr. B. F. Lorance of Wilber. In the discussion it was urged that the line must be drawn between commercialized sport in the school and that culture and character must be held as a higher aim than the bull-fighting nature.

A survey presented by Superintendent True of McCook revealed that the average cost to the sixty high schools in the state for athletics was $1,095 annually. Compared to this only $25 annually was spent for the general health of the pupils.

The unfairness of the personal tax system and the weakness of the levy system for school reevnues were also discussed. Harlan Updegraf, Mt. Vernon, Ia., president of Cornell college, urged a method to equalize educational opportunity among the geographically and financially varying school districts.

NATIONAL BANKS SEEK INJUNCTION

Action Is Instituted In United States Court At Omaha.

Want Stock Taxed Under Intangible Tax Law Of Nebraska.

OMAHA, Feb. 1.—(A. P.)—Resisting the attempt of the state to collect a tangible instead of an intangible tax on their stock, four Omaha banks, the Merchants National, United States National, Stock Yards National and the Omaha National, all chartered by the federal government, filed applications for injunction against Otto Bauman and Frank Dewey, treasurer and clerk, respectively, of Douglas county, with the United States district court clerk today. The tangible tax is based a 100 per cent of the mill rate and the intangible 25 per cent.

Within the very near future a number of state banks through several representative institutions, will file similar actions in the state courts, it was stated this morning. As yet the banks to bring the action have not been selected.

Details of the fight to be waged against the state law have been worked out by Edward Burnham, banker of Norfolk. During the past four months Mr. Burnham has held a number of conferences with the Omaha bankers and other members of the taxation committee of the Nebraska bankers' association.

Nearly 500 Cases Decided By High Court Last Year

Hearing that one of the candidates for the state supreme bench had publicly criticised the present composition of that tribunal for not keeping up with its work, Deputy Clerk Victor Seymour looked up the records Friday morning and found that in the calendar year of 1923 the court had decided 456 cases upon their merits. Opinions were written in 364 of these, while 92 were affirmed without opinion.

While the court was getting rid of 456 cases, or at the rate of 38 per month, lawyers and litigants filed 654 new ones.

Owing to the fact that Judge C. H. Aldrich has been incapacitated and taken no part in the work of the court for almost a year, the six remaining judges, with the help of several district judges called in for that purpose, considered and disposed of all but a very few of the 456 cases handled in 1923.

The supreme court's critic was W. L. Dowling of Madison, a candidate in the Third district for nomination to the supreme bench. He was quoted as saying in a speech at Omaha that the younger members of the high bench should be given more work to do than the older ones.

False Modesty Wrecks Health

THE young lady just assuming the responsibilities of a woman is very apt to be self-conscious of her physical functions, and in consequence neglect them. There is no time, however, when it is more important for her to look after them. Chief among her troubles is constipation, and her suffering will be serious when she gets older if she does not regulate her bowels now. Mrs. Mary Keller of 132 Benton St., Sistersville, W. Va., was perplexed about her daughter until her own druggist told her they used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at his house, and she did likewise. Miss Irene Mazierska of 90 Peter St., Buffalo, N. Y., is glad her attention was called to Syrup Pepsin.

Safe for Young and Old

Let mothers with growing daughters interest themselves in this matter and see that their judgment is enforced. A rule followed by many is to take a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin once a week until the bowels function daily, and at such other times as there is headache, biliousness, sores and fever blisters, lack of energy and appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion.

A dose can be given in these conditions to any member of the family however young or old as Syrup Pepsin is a simple compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasing aromatics, and perfectly safe.

Public Recognizes Merit

You will quickly see the difference between a mild laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and castor oil, or rough cathartics and physics. Syrup Pepsin acts gently and does not gripe. Increased doses are not necessary. A bottle can be had at any drug store, and a spoonful costs less than a cent. It has been successfully used for thirty years and is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, over 10 million bottles having been sold in drug stores last year. Keep Syrup Pepsin in your medicine chest.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga.—Advertisement.

DEMOCRACY AND DICTATORS

"The most outstanding development in Europe of the past year or two has been the revulsion from democracy as seen in the setting aside of representative governments and the concentration of authority, with the acquiescence of the public, in individuals who exercise virtually dictatorial powers.'

Here is a situation which has generally been ignored in America, and its lesson overlooked. It should serve as a warning to everyone, and particularly to those, who through their demands for new experiments in government, have made the machinery of government so cumbersone and so unresponsive to efficient action that the same wave of disgust and contempt against the duly constituted authority has swept this country in modified form.

When a foreign loan was extended to Austria by the league of nations, that hapless country was placed under a practical dictatorship, with Dr. Zimmerman in charge of affairs. Mussolini took over the government in Italy, apparently with popular approval but without an election. In Spain, a military dictator, General Primo de Rivera, usurped the authority which was exercised by the prime minister and parliament. Bulgaria threw off the chains of an agrarian premier, and placed a strong conservative in power. Italy, Spain and Bulgaria have suffered the royal families to remain, but in Greece, the king was expelled and a republic proclaimed, which has developed into practically a dictatorship, owing to previous dissatisfaction with the administration of affairs. Hungary has a dictator, while Germany, ostensibly a republic, is in practically the same situation with emergency supreme power vested in the chancellor.

* * *

It was not the whim and fancy of excitable peoples which temporarily tossed democracy overboard in Europe. It is due to the failure of democratic forms of government in Europe to perform the fundamental functions of government.

The people of the nations of Europe, who have turned from democratic forms of government to dictatorships, have sickened of delay and deadlocks in parliamentary procedure. They have seen groups and blocs check-mate each other in a gathering swirl of chaos and inaction. And while the struggle for existence grew more desperate, because of the frightful losses sustained in a world war, they found it impossible to place responsibility for failure. Government was no longer accountable to those who gave it its life.

That revulsion against democratic institutions which has swept Europe is very aptly described in the following paragraph from the bulletin of the National City bank:

> It cannot be assumed that the establishment of dictatorships signifies a lasting displacement of republican institutions, but it is evident that the public is tired for the time being of the inefficiency of parliamentary government. All of the continental law-making bodies have been split up into so many groups and blocs that parliamentary action was well-nigh impossible The groups check-mated each other, group politics dominated everything and governmental responsibility no longer existed. Democracy had run itself into the ground, and in sheer desperation the public welcomed any authority that promised to be strong enough and patriotic enough to give good government. After all, the most important service of government is that of maintaining order and protecting industry and private business. If democracies will learn this lesson they will be greatly benefited by the experience.

In America we are facing the same problem which caused Europe to turn from representative government to the absolutism of a dictator:

Government has become too cumbersone, too complicated, too paternallstic and too fearfully expensive in this country.

In the last decade, over a quarter of a million employes have been added to the myriad boards, bureaus and commissions, which have sprung into existence in Washington. Recently Oscar Underwood directed attention to the fact that 548,505 civilians are employed by the government. Add to this, the vast armies employed in the state governments, the counties, the municipalities, and other political subdivisions—all of whom must be supported by the productive labors of the people—that spells the cause of popular dissatisfaction with government.

Intertwining, interlinking, overlapping, duplicating their activities in order to find something to do that they may retain their soft berths at the public crib—this host of tax-eaters are arousing suspicion and doubt of government in the minds of those who pay the taxes. Unless their fearful excesses in spending public funds are curbed, they are menacing democracy.

A free people are becoming so nauseated, through the growth of governmental activities never conceived by those who gave America its priceless gift of the greatest pronouncement of human rights in history— the American constitution—that democracy itself has been challenged.

OIL FRAUDS AND THE TARIFF.

In the midst of the shocking revelations connected with the Teapot Dome and California naval land leases, which have been unanimously condemned by the United States senate as illegal and against public policy, it is well to remember that they are only one manifestation of a general governmental policy favoring what is generally known as "big business" that has prevailed at Washington during the past three years.

The Doheny and Sinclair oil interests were given concessions worth many millions of dollars through the official acts of former Interior Secretary Fall and Naval Secretary Denby, and in the case of Mr. Fall it has been conclusively shown that he was the recipient of some "loans" made by these same interests under very peculiar and mysterious circumstances. Because of the scandal that has developed from these transactions, congress now demands that the leases be cancelled and the oil lands brought back under government control and held, as they were originally intended, to assure the navy a reserve supply in case of war. The national administration is preparing to institute legal proceedings for this purpose.

But why condemn the big oil magnates alone for "getting theirs" while so many other interests are robbing the people day by day with governmental sanction and approval?

For the past year or more the sugar trust has been collecting heavy tribute from every American consumer, through the medium of the tariff of 2 cents per pound laid upon that commodity by the Fordney McCumber act. Every time the head of a family buys a dollar's worth of sugar, he pays 15 or 20 cents tribute. In the aggregate, this amounts to hundreds of millions of dollars per year extra profit for the sugar manufacturers and refiners.

In anticipation of receiving this "protection" given by the robber tariff law, the sugar interests contributed immense sums four years ago to the republican campaign fund. They will no doubt make very generous donations again this year as a mark of gratitude for what the government has done for them, and to keep in power the party which has enabled them to fatten off the necessities of consumers.

Manufacturers of clothing, shoes, iron and steel products, fabricated goods, and a host of other articles in common use have likewise been helped by the government through the instrumentality of the same predatory tariff law. With respect to all these things, the government has played the role of a holdup man who points a gun at the victim while the protected manufacturer goes through his pockets and takes his money.

It has been charged that some of the United States senators and representatives who helped to fasten the iniquitous Fordney-McCumber act upon the country are direct beneficiaries of its provisions, being interested in wool, sugar, steel and other protected industries. Is ex-Secretary Fall's conduct any more worthy of condemnation than theirs?

It is not easy to detect any moral difference between the action of Fall and Denby in permitting certain oil kings to defraud the American people of valuable natural resources, and the manner in which the government is aiding sugar barons, clothing manufacturers, and steel trust, and other great combinations of capital to extort money from the people who buy their products.

A ROYAL WEDDING.

With a whirl of parties, dinners and dances to occupy their attention for days, and sometimes weeks before the wedding ceremony, the average American bride heaves a sigh of relief when the round of galeties end. How much better off is she, nowever, than her little sister in Japan, who is one of the parties to a royal wedding?

The imperial wedding of the Prince Regent last week to Princess Nagaka Runi called forth the same ceremonies, which have marked the marriages of all of the members of the Japanese imperial family, which is the most ancient dynasty enthroned in the world today. The wedding service itself is but the third of five prescribed functions, which the royal couple must observe in conformance with ancestor worship, forming the creed of the Shinto state religion.

Two weeks before the wedding, formal announcement of the date of the wedding, which is set by the emperor and empress, was sent to the family of the bride-to-be by courier. On the day before the wedding there took place the first exchange of letters between the Prince Regent and his bride. These letters are prepared with great care on special parchment paper such as was used in ancient times, and the writing is the work of famous artists. Impressive ceremonies mark the exchange of letters. Then comes the wedding itself, witnessed by only those of highest blood, before the three sacred shrines in the imperial palace grounds, where at an early hour in the morning the wedding party gathers.

After the wedding two important ceremonies still await the wedding couple. During the following week they must visit the shrines throughout Japan. Then they must visit the tomb of Emporer Jimmu Tenne near Nara, and the grave and memorial of the late Emporer Meiji at Memoyama.

Western civilization scorns the elaborate ceremonials of the Orient. Certainly they have in no way served to foster a greater spirit of sacredness, with which the marriage vow is regarded. Wherever the Christian religion has touched, its influence has been reflected in the marriage ceremony.

WOODROW WILSON'S ILLNESS.

The news from Washington that Woodrow Wilson's condition had taken a decided turn for the worse will arouse universal sympathy and prayers for his recovery.

Since leaving the White House, Mr. Wilson has been an invalid, confined to his home and his bed a greater portion of the time. Few public men, who have left their imprint so indelibly on history, have retired, to be so completely isolated from life as Mr. Wilson. The thousands who had come to love the silent, grim figure in the White House, from time to time came to look to him for a word of counsel or advice. With but one exception, they were disappointed for the former president's condition was such that he was precluded from taking an active part in affairs.

Time mellows differences and so it has been with Mr. Wilson.

Even those who so bitterly opposed his policies have come to share a kindlier feeling for the dynamic, inspiring personality, which kindled the hopes of the world, and led countless millions to adopt loftier views of human relationships than history has ever known. His political enemies will join with the millions, who have enshrined the ideals and accomplishments of Woodrow Wilson in their hearts, in hoping that a Divine Providence will spare him for further usefulness to mankind.

More Truth Than Poetry

Yesterday was not so good to me,
Things I had hoped to do were left undone;
The world was drab, or so it seemed to be,
Among the bruised and beaten I was one.
In many ante-rooms I cooled my heels,
While others won the favors that I sought;
If men whose luck was good enjoyed their meals,
No pearls were in the oysters that I got.
I had no cordial greeting anywhere,
As yesterday I made my weary round;
I hunted hard for prospects that were fair
And blundered always on forbidden ground,
Suspicion seemed to be in every glance,
That men whose time was precious cast my way;
I looked in vain for any lucky chance
And any sign of promise—yesterday.

But yesterday was not a total loss:
There was some useful practice that I had
In standing bravely up beneath my cross
And fighting through conditions that were bad.
I learned, I think, to be a little more
Adept in keeping back unbidden sighs;
My sympathy is deeper than before
For beaten men with dimmed and weary eyes

And now it is today again—TODAY,
With chances that are still untried and new!
I may not find an unobstructed way
In which to seek the fortunes I pursue.
But yesterday is gone, and I can start
Today without regret and unashamed;
I have not let rebuffs crowd from my heart
The courage I have struggled for—and claimed.

A WORD OF CHEER.

"I sometimes wish," said the fading star, "that I never had become an actress."

"Don't worry," replied the manager, who was beginning to be tired of her, "you never did."

Cheers and Jeers for Bok Peace Plan

Prize Project to Avate Wars Divides Editors of Foreign Language Press, but Greater Number Think It Worth While.

Every section of American thought and feeling about world peace, politics and diplomacy is reflected in discussions of the Bok peace plans now proceeding in the foreign language newspapers of the United States. The project submitted to a popular referendum is strongly approved by a safe plurality of journals examined by the Foreign Language Information Service. Yet the editors who write for the most numerous immigrant groups are so divided in opinion that one who reads their different newspapers will find it said of the plan that it:

"Promotes the cause of peace."

"Sets a trap for the American people."

"Safeguards every American interest."

"Gives the democrats an impelling campaign document."

"Constitutes propaganda for the republican party."

"Sets a goal worth striving for."

"Reveals poverty of statesmanship."

"Will be the foremost campaign issue."

"Is the best plan that could be devised."

"Is nothing but politics."

"Will be endorsed by an overwhelming majority."

"Is a big contribution to the cause of peace."

"Is better than nothing."

Sympathetic consideration of how the plan would affect their homelands in Europe is revealed in the comment of some editors, but this influence is much more feeble than might be expected. In no one of the language groups is there an unanimous verdict either for or against the Bok project, and their grounds for differing on the issue are as varied and "domestic" as those found in the English language press. Endorsements and rejections are both printed in journals of the German, Polish, Russian and Jewish groups. Italian, Swedish, Finnish and Czech editors vary from staunch support to a condescending toleration of the plan.

"Isolation Impossible."

An end to American isolation, and future co-operation with the rest of the world through an instrument of the League of Nations (the World Court) is what all the editors interpet the Bok plan to mean. Says the independent Polish NOWY SWIAT, New York:

> "Briefly speaking, the new peace plan takes us back to 1919 when Wilson signed the covenant of the league of nations and when the republican majority in the senate rejected it . . . The republican party was given power because the party egotism of big capital washed its hands (of Europe) like Pilate and propagated the policy of isolation. But humbug is short lived . . . In its own time politics, forced by circumstances, announced through the lips of our deceased President Harding that it was necessary for the United States to join the world court. The propagators of egoistic isolation had to confess openly that even powerful America has no right to hold herself aloof and look calmly upon the chaos and disintegration of Europe. It is not altogether an accident that the peace plan selected by the Bok commission brings to the fore a question which the isolationists would like to bury . . . For our own part, we have never considered the league of nations an ideal institution, but in spite of its great deficiencies the United States cannot boycott the league without doing harm both to Europe and America if the thing be judged in the light of future events. No matter how cleverly devised, isolation cannot be maintained in these modern times."

In much the same vein the democratic Polish DZIENNIK CHICAGOSKI refers to the plan as "like all other human advice, probably quite imperfect," adding: "It is practical, however; it foresees many things and is altogether American in that it combines idealism with common sense. It represents a very important contribution to the peace problem." Just as the United States hastened the end of the World War by entering that conflict, so will it now assist in establishing a firm peace by entering the World Court, says the independent Polish WIADOMOSCI CODZIENNE, Cleveland. "Poles should not treat the Bok peace plan with indifference," it warns . . . "We know how tragic the European situation is at the present time, and with it the situation of Poland." If the plan is approved by popular vote, the paper concludes, congress will understand that "the American people want to see their country cooperating with European nations in the establishing and maintenance of peace." Fear of the league will vanish, says the independent Polish PITTSBURGCZANIN, "when the American people come to understand that, by reason of a social law of international gravitation, co-operation is absolutely unavoidable."

Will Educate Politicians.

"Those who strenuously voiced the policy of isolation do not express the sentiments of the American majority," the independent Czech NEW YORSKE LISTY believes, holding that "the Bok plan will undoubtedly be accepted by an overwhelming majority of votes." According to the independent Czech DENNI HLASATEL, of Chicago, "America must go where all the rest of the civilized world has gone" and "the Bok plan will bring to American politicians a very appreciable measure of such understanding." Another Czech paper, the independent SVET, Cleveland, thinks the total abolition of war is a long away off, but "a vote in favor of the Bok plan will be an expression of the desire for world peace, and such a manifestation as will not remain unnoticed in circles having the power to decide." The independent German NEW YORKER HEROLD believes world peace "will and must at some time or other become a reality" and it welcomes the Bok plan because "it keeps the question before the public eye," and finds it "a matter for rejoicing that Mr. Bok, who, by the way, is a naturalized citizen, offered his prize of $100,000." Echoing the same sentiment, the German MILWAUKEE HEROLD finds that "regardless of what we may think otherwise of the plans, it has certainly promoted the cause of peace. The American public has been aroused."

The independent Jewish DAY, New York, laments because old prejudices and animosities surrounding the league of nations issue have been dug up to becloud the merits of the Bok plan, an evil that it calls "typical of the way in which political thinking is done. There is no doubt that it is the best plan that could be elaborated under the conditions," says the "and one can see and feel that its author is well acquainted with international law, as well as with all phases of the disputed question." The republican Swedish SKANDIA, Jamestown, New York, finds that the award jury is aiming at a high goal, but it adds: "The higher one aims the higher one reaches, even if the goal is not reached at once. To bring the nations together at the table for discussion of problems of vital interest to us all is in itself a goal worth striving for, no matter what the result of such a conference may be." The independent Finnish PAIVALEHTI, Duluth, believes the good result of a favorable vote on the peace plan would be "to show the world that this country does not wish to live a separate and isolated existence." This unofficial referendum "will prove a testing stone of the international conscience of the American people," declares the republican Hungarian SZABADSAG, Cleveland, adding that "if the people participate in adequate numbers we will see whether they really wish to be a co-operative factor in the world's progress or prefer to look out upon the storm of life from their well heated and more or less comfortably furnished homes." The plan would "safeguard the United States from the aftermath of European chaos and at the same time assist European civilization to its feet," says the independent Russian NOVOYE PUSSKOYE SLOVO, New York, which is confident that "the generally peaceful temper of the country guarantees the approval of the plan by a vast majority."

From Napoleon to Bok.

General support of world peace in principle is often coupled with skepticism regarding how it is to be brought about. The CORRIERE D'AMERICA, New York, finds that the idea of peace is as old as war itself and continues:

> "In his Memoires written at St. Helena, Napoleon explained that all his bloody campaigns had no other purpose than to bring peace to the world. Edward Bok has thought of starting a public contest with a prize of $100,000 for the best plan for maintaining peace in the world." Of the prize plan itself the same paper says: "It seems to us that the hundred thousand dollars should have been paid half to Hughes and half to Wilson, who originated the ideas to which the prize-winner has given nothing but his signature. No one can deny," the editor continues, "that active participation by the United States in the world court or in the league of nations would constitute a powerful contribution to the practical solution of the economic problems. But it all rests in the solution of the economic problem. If the 22,165 competitors for the Bok prize had not heard about the $100,000 they would probably not have worried their heads at all about international peace. If they had carried this truth and sentiment into their projects they would have understood the secret of world peace."

"After all it is better that the United States should cooperate with the league of nations even by means that are impractical and illegal than to make no effort at all to bring about peace in the world," concedes the democratic Polish NOWINY POLSKIE, Milwaukee, and its independent contemporary, the Polish TELEGRAM, Buffalo, says it is glad to submit the plan to its readers, although it is "skeptical in regard to the idea, since war is a necessary evil and has its roots in human nature." The independent German ABENDPOST, Rochester, admits that "if the plan could be practically applied the wrongs that followed in the wake of the last war would be removed," but a plan which does not begin with "a revision of the treaty of Versailles does not seem plausible to us. In the same group the NEW YORKER STAATSZEITUNG finds that the Bok prize judges are "particularly friends of France" and of the league. It holds that "a trap has been set for the American people," and calls for "a revision of the Treaty of Versailles and a reduction of the impossible demands upon Germany.' Similarly, the Bok jury is held by the Republican German ABENDPOST, St. Louis to be "not at all unfriendly to Poincare's venomous policy of hatred," and the plan "contains so desperately few new ideas as to arouse one."

League and Peace Plan Both Scorned.

The plan is rejected by the independent Lithuanian VIENYBE, Brooklyn, because it leads toward the league of nations, which America should not enter, it holds, until international jealousy is ended by abolition of tariff walls, natural resources are turned into national monopolies and the manufacture of armaments forbidden. Another Lithuanian paper, the Republican DRAUGAS, Chicago, calls the plan "mere propaganda for the league of nations" changes the league with complete failure and says "it would be better to create a new instrument of world government." A referendum vote on the plan is called unnecessary by the Republican Hungarian AMERIKAI MAGYAR NEPSZAVA, New York, which says French militarism dominates the league of nations, which "the American people have already rejected by a majority of seven million votes. The Republican SLOVENS GLAS SVOBODE, Chicago, finds there "can be no doubt about what the plan aims at," since no sooner was it published than news came from Paris telling of "the satisfaction felt by league of nations officials.'" The republican JEWISH MORNING JOURNAL, New York, is not surprised to hear that a big majority of ballots have been cast in favor of the plan, because "the voting is organized in the same way as for beauty contests in Atlantic City," and "can bring no better results than the balloting in cheap magazines on who is the best movie artist." It is agreed by the Jewish TAGEBLATT, New York that "Mo. Bok's way is a cheap one, reminding us of the Barnum and Bailey method, and does not correspond to the importance of the problem involved."

Radical editors spurn the project. The Lithuanian NAUJIENOS, Chicago, summarizes the contentions loosed by the peace plan, including the demand for a congressional investigation, and exclaims: "Instead of peace we have a scandal." The only positive result seen by the Jewish FRIEHEIT, New York, is the promoter of the plan "has received for his $50,000 such publicity in America and the entire world as could not otherwise have been obtained by spending a million dollars." The Finnish INDUSTRIALIST, Duluth, and the Russian RUSSKY GOLOS, New York, conclude their comment by finding that economic competition is the cause of war, and that international peace is impossible while the capitalist order exists.

Republican Politics Charged.

"This is politics," exclaims the republican POLISH DZIENNIK Z WIAZKOWY, Chicago, in a discussion which set forth that Mr. Bok has paid an unknown author a very large sum of money for the purpose of "sounding out public opinion with regard to future party platforms." The plan is full of "Republican political calculations" in the opinion also of the Workers Party Lithuanian LAISVE, Brooklyn, which traces an alleged orientation by Presidents Harding and Coolidge in the direction of the league of nations, and says the party leaders mean to stand in a position where they can say: "We are defending America from European complications and wars; we desire merely to enter an International Tribunal of the league of nations and there to establish world peace." Against the league as offered by Woodrow Wilson "the republican party waged a furious war," says the independent Czech DENNI HLASATEL, Chicago, but it finds that same party is now preparing a union with the league "under conditions that will be as painless as possible in order that members of the party may believe they were triumphant." In conflict with that view is a charge by the Republican Italian PROGRESSO, New York that a "peace project based on the league of nations will, in the minds of Wilson and the democrats, furnish the Democratic party with an impelling argument in the campaign this year."

On the important point of final adoption by the government of any untied peace plan, we are reminded by the independent Lithuanian OMAHA POSTEN, that "it has never pleased either congress or the administration in Washington for outsiders to interfere with governmental problems and make suggestions for the conduct of our relations with other countries," Washington being "dogmatically faithful to the old opinion that everything worth while in the way of government must be born and worked out in senate committees or at the cabinet table."

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS

When Back Hurts Flush Your Kidneys as You Clean Your Bowels.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advertisement.

Where The Railroad Dollar Goes

Practically all the money the railroads take in is immediately put back into circulation. Railroads do a large volume of business on a narrow margin of net income. Out of every dollar earned from operation by the railways of the United States, there was absorbed in 1922, by

Wages and Salaries	44.4 cents
Fuel	9.4 cents
Other operating and maintenance expenses (including such items as rails and ties, loss and damage)	25.6 cents
Taxes	5.4 cents
Hire of equipment and joint facility rents	1.5 cents
Net Operating Income	13.7 cents
	100.0 cents

Out of this 13.7 cents of net operating income, 12.2 cents went for interest on bonds and other fixed charges, leaving 1.5 cents for stockholders. Adding 6.9 cents of income from outside sources, net corporate income was 8.4 cents, of which 4.9 cents was paid in dividents, leaving 3.5 cents available for appropriations and surplus.

Gross earnings of the railroads in 1922 were $1,567,000,000 more than in 1917. This $1,567,000,000 and more too, was immediately paid out again, as follows:

$918,000,000	in added wages to railroad employes
135,000,000	in added cost of coal, mostly miners' wages.
122,000,000	for additional taxes
500,000,000	additional for materials and supplies largely representing wages.

The stockholders and bondholders of the railroads got none of the increases.

It is significant that good times are always coincident with heavy buying on the part of the railroads and that bad times are periods of light railway purchases.

The Union Pacific System is one of the most important enterprises west of the Missouri River. Its nearly 50,000 employes, and their families, constitute a buying power which is the main reliance of many businesses. The purchases of the Union Pacific System from firms located on the System, or which have offices on our lines, aggregate millions of dollars each month.

The railways are planning to spend hundreds of millions of new money during 1924 to better serve the public.

"Our transportation movement during 1923 is the outstanding industrial accomplishment of the year. The waste of the year 1920 with its car shortages, its derangements of price levels, stoppage of industry, probably amounted to not less than a billion of dollars, and the American people and no economic fabric could have stood that loss that did not have a total income in excess of sixty billions. One great contribution to the business stability of the past year has been the fact that we have had a free and regular and orderly movement of transportation."—From address by Secretary of Commerce Herbert C. Hoover, January 9, 1924.

15 MILLION SECRET BALLOTS

(The First 107,145 Votes Are Tabulated in This Week's Literary Digest)

In a Nation-wide Poll

ON

TAX REDUCTION

Do You FAVOR The MELLON PLAN? OR Do You OPPOSE The MELLON PLAN?

THE LITERARY DIGEST, with the absolute impartiality which is now universally recognized as its unvarying policy, is mailing individual secret ballots to nearly 15 million men and women voters throughout the United States, that the desires and opinions of the people on this great issue may be known beyond question.

EVERY VOTE IS THE FREE, UNINFLUENCED, SECRET VERDICT OF THE VOTER, UNKNOWN TO ANYONE BUT HIMSELF OR HERSELF

THE DEMAND FOR TAX REDUCTION is the paramount issue before the country to-day. The only question in dispute is how to secure the reduction. Many plans have been proposed by various political groups or leaders, but attention has become focused upon one plan—the Mellon Plan.

The Mellon Plan reduces the taxes on all incomes in varying degrees; it provides that an earned income (salary, wages, professional services, etc.) shall not be taxed as highly as an income from stocks, bonds, etc. The so-called nuisance taxes, such as the moving-picture admission tax, the telephone tax and the telegraph tax, also are eliminated.

This measure, however, is not without strong opposition. An important fault with the plan, according to such leaders as William G. McAdoo, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, and Commander John R. Quinn of The American Legion, is that it excludes the soldiers' bonus, which they strongly believe should be paid, and which they claim can be paid without preventing some tax reduction.

On the other hand Secretary Mellon says it will be impossible to reduce taxes in this generation if we pay a bonus. President Coolidge also disapproves of a bonus in fact and principle, and has given unqualified support to the Mellon Plan.

DO YOU FAVOR THE MELLON PLAN FOR TAX REDUCTION OR NOT? Mark your Ballot and support your views.

ALL CLASSES OF VOTERS in all States and all communities in the Nation are being polled with complete impartiality. They include business men, merchants, farmers, manufacturers, railroad employees, bankers, clerks, builders, contractors, superintendents, managers, carpenters, plasterers, plumbers, painters, mechanics, printers, miners, steel-workers, workers in every trade and branch of industry, both union and non-union, professional men and women of all classes, including lawyers, doctors, clergymen, authors, actors, newspaper men, dentists, engineers, educators, architects, musicians, etc., in short, all parties and all the classes of men and women who make up the voting population in all parts of the country.

NO PROPAGANDA OF ANY KIND is connected with this great National Poll of the American people. The Literary Digest is always strictly non-partizan and impartial on all controversial questions. It records the facts and the opinions of all political parties and all classes. That is why it has come to be regarded by millions of Americans as the one representative and indispensable periodical record of all phases of American life.

Do you favor the Mellon plan for Tax Reduction?
Secretary Mellon says his plan cannot be carried out if the Bonus to Ex-Service men is paid.

If you do favor the Mellon Plan mark a X under "Yes" — YES

If you oppose the Mellon Plan mark a X under "No" — NO

EVERY WEEK FROM EVERY STATE IN THE UNION

The results will appear in THE LITERARY DIGEST. All the figures will be given in detail and will be analyzed and explained, State by State, until the poll is completed. The first announcement will be in the February 2d issue. These reports will have unique and decisive interest for political leaders, the press, and citizens of the whole country. DIGEST readers, of course, will get them first and in the most complete detail.

At the same time, and all through the year, THE LITERARY DIGEST will be gathering carefully and reporting all the facts and opinions on all sides bearing upon all the great problems and issues which are being discussed and which must be settled by the American people in this great Presidential Campaign. THE LITERARY DIGEST is wonderfully equipped for this service by a system built up at great expense through many years of careful work, and reaching into thousands of newspaper and periodical offices in all parts of the world. The reader can depend upon THE LITERARY DIGEST with absolute certainty as it reveals, from week to week, free from all prejudice and partizanship, the real state of the Nation's mind, the real facts affecting all issues, and the progress of all the great problems toward settlement.

Minerva's Mail

Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Are Women First.

Dear Minerva: Please tell me why should any woman have children who does not want them? The idea of woman's duty, as expressed in your Mail recently, is unpopular with me.

I have never wanted children and from my observation many mothers do not enjoy their jobs, but they do love to "rub it in" on any woman who is childless. Perhaps some day my arms will ache, but I certainly have my doubts. Life is too full of opportunities for happiness to ever mope over anything. Which I see no reason to justify myself to anybody, I may mention the well-known ingratitude of children as one reason why I shrink from the ordeal. One of the smartest retorts of the high-school child nowadays is "Well I didn't ask to be brought here."

Women are women first, then mothers, and I can prove it. For they give up their time, health, looks and money gladly? Never. It is the mothers around me who make cruelly unkind remarks about me because I have these things and they have not. It is the mothers who deny themselves everything who are jealous of me because I have a happy, well-organized home, pretty clothes, glorious health and time to improve my mind and keep my husband my lover always.

Then there is the enormous expense. I do not know any families of four who are able to save any money and the constant worry over debts and the future is enough to take the joy out of anybody's life. We are not at all rich, but we enjoy the good things of life and are making investments that will enable my husband to retire from business at 55 and after that we can travel and take life easy. I have what every woman wants and few get, perfect contentment.—Happy Wife.

A. I don't doubt for a minute that there is a glorious, free-hearted joy in being above responsibilities, in being well-groomed, in living in a well-kept home, in having leisure for reading and music and travel. I think it would be great fun to go to a matinee when the spirit moved or take next year's vacation without counting the cost. All of these things I know, yet I feel sorry for this "Happy Wife."

It's a funny world. Every mother who has given her youth, her "figure," her toil to bring children into the world and to keep them here, healthy, well trained and disciplined, will feel sorry for you While, in many a heart, is hidden an envy of your freedom, I believe every mother considers that her sacrifices are well worth while and would not exchange her children for your well-organized life.

The "well-known ingratitude of children" is well known all right. But I believe that mother makes a mistake to sacrifice too thoroughly for her children. Often in her zealous motherhood she sacrifices exceedingly unwisely. Children need loving care, they need proper diets and warm clothes, but their minds grow and unless parents keep "humping" the sons and daughters grow away from them. For loving companionship there must be mental contact. You find it in wise homes. It's the over-worked, old-fashioned parents that you find forgotten and neglected in their old age.

I don't call this justice, but it's pitifully true. Without our physical needs being met, we would surely perish, and yet the ones who stimulate our mental needs are the ones we turn to.

The sacrificing mothers who show you their envy of your sleek clothes, the freedom you enjoy, are doubtless those who evade the sacrificial part of motherhood and who are given to self pity.

Underneath your letter I cannot fail to read a hunch that you are missing something in passing by motherhood.

A Youthful Cynic.

Dear Minerva: Well here I am, a seventeen-year-old girl who believes there is no such thing as love. I've seen too much of this so-called love. And it just "ain't."

I'll tell you some of the reasons why I say it is the bunk. First I am still quite young, but I started going with a boy when I was eleven years old and just broke up with him last month. Oh we were in love, no doubt, but a red-headed dancer attracted the spot called "love" in him. You can learn to love anyone. No exceptions. Is that a foolish statement to you? Well, it isn't to me.

A friend of my family nearly had me saying for a while that there is love. She and her husband were regular pals. He died and she married again before the year was out. I asked her the other day which she preferred Jack or Bill. She laughed and said "I love Bill now, of course. All people love the ones that have those qualities that we admire. If Bill died, I would love another."

They are all like that Minerva. This is just one instance, but they are legion.

Well Minerva this is enough and you don't have to print it if you don't want to. Fay.

A. What is more cynical than youth that has loved and lost. But after all, it does take more than one experience to fill a life, and it takes more than sixteen or seventeen years to complete the cycle of human emotions, and when it discovers these treasured thoughts, it becomes mellow, tolerant and generous

The cynicism in youth is a normal stage of development, just the same as being boy struck and adoring sour pickles.

Fay, you believed in love from the ages of eleven to seventeen, didn't you? But since the event of the red-headed dancer into your life, you have decided there is no such thing.

The tradgedy of your letter is in fact that your parents let you "go with a boy" when you should have been making mud pies. No wonder some of your illusions have been rubbed off.

You, little-girl-who-has-been-disappointed-in-love, should realize that the boy in question is an entirely different person from what he was six years ago, for which we should be duly thankful. His tastes are as different from what they were then as the the tastes of John Henry Jones who lives around the corner. Normal people the world over change and it is happy that they do After a while you will realize it and be thankful that even grief can't kill the usefulness or helpfulness of mankind.

I give you three months—or maybe six—until the next supreme love comes into your life.

BRIGHTENS A DARK FROCK.

The self-sufficient plain blue wool school dress, when it does permit itself to be adorned, has a way of choosing extremely smart accompanniments The newest favorite has a plaid ribbon Lady Jane tie strung under loops from the left shoulder across the back and down the front at the right side opening to the hem, ending in a self-fringe .

TEMPTING LUNCHEON DISH.

Make sausage meat into small cakes and cook them well; slice large, tart, red-skinned apples in crosswise slices without paring them and place in the hot fat from the sausage, sprinkle just very lightly with sugar and cook t a nut brown. Serve on a hot platter, a sausage cake on each apple slice and garnish with toast points.

A QUAINT DANCE FROCK.

A gown descended from the magnificent court days of France is made of changeable taffeta, in rose and gold, with flower figures. The bodice is tight and plain, and the very full-skirt has a quaint panel of lace insertion bands bordered with narrow satin ribbon in green, blue and canary. The girdle flower is of yellow ribbon with a green center.

Let Kellogg's Bran free your children from that dangerous disease—constipation

Children are subject to constipation. In the excitement of play, they neglect themselves and foster this dread disease. More than forty other diseases can be traced to constipation. Don't delay. Begin at once to cleanse their systems of the dangerous poisons.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps the intestine clean—and purifies it. It drives out the poisons which undermine your children's health. It makes the bowels function regularly and naturally.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is guaranteed to bring results if eaten regularly, or your grocer will return your money. It is guaranteed because it is ALL bran! Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors everywhere—they know from experience that it brings results.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. They will like its wonderful, nut-like flavor—so different from common brans which are most unpalatable.

As a cereal, with milk or cream, they will enjoy Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in delicious muffins, bread, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

But start them eating Kellogg's Bran to-day. Start every member of your family eating it. Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is made in Battle Creek and is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs everywhere. Ask for it at your restaurant. It is sold by all grocers.

A New Van de Water Serial

CHAPTER III.

Young Rankin was a fluent talker. That he dealt in glittering generalities and that many of his statements could not be backed up by facts, did not occur to his listeners. Girls just emerging from a fashionabl efinishing school are not supposed to know much of law "the other half" lives, and any assertions that the self-styled reformer made sounded to them like ex-cathedra utterances

Once Mary Dallas did ask him just how he hoped to conduct his campaign for justice to "the under-dog."

"You've touched a tender spot," he explained. "I can do so little because of lack of funds. Were I a rich man, I could carry on investigations and expose abuses of which the upper classes never dream. That is the trouble with rich people Their having money blunts their sympathies."

"Oh, I don't think so" Winifred tried to protest.

But he soon convinced her that he was right. He challeneged her to name a single rich man who ever went among the riff-raff of society as a friend.

"Not," he explained, "that I blame men for not doing that kind of work —if they dislike it. But they might at least hand over to some of the rest of us the money that we need to change conditions that we, at least, recognize. But, no—they shut their eyes, so our hands are tied."

He had a deep and pleasant voice. He had also the brooding eyes of the dreamer. He ha dtaken off his hat, and, as he talked, he ran his hand over his mop of dark hair, brushing it back from his high, white forehead. He looked like an artist, the girl mused. At times there was a sad droop to the corners of his mouth. She wondered if he were poor—if that was why he could sympathize with men less fortunate than himself.

As if reading her thoughts he began to talk of the aims he had had as a boy.

"I was to have been an artist," he said, "and I planned to go to Paris to study. Then,"—he hesitated as if trying to steady his voice—"we met with reverses. My parents died. I was left with Estelle, my sister, whom you knew here. I wanted to give her the best that I could. That was why I brought her to this high-priced school—so that she could see something of the best people. It has not been easy to keep her here, but I have done it. She does not know that I have educated her at the price of my own art career. Now she has gone back home. She will live with my aunt there. Later she may get a position as a teacher, or she may marry. In any case, I must support her until she marries or becomes self-supporting."

"Then you have a position in New York, of course?"

Practical Mary Dallas asked the question.

"Yes, yes—I have," he replied hastily. "It is not especially remunerative, nor the sort of position that men with my aims would seek for himself, but it does bring me into contact with those whom I would help."

It was all very sad, Winifred thought. The impression he had made upon her earlier in the day when she had talked with him was intensified as she sat gazing out over the Hudson and listening to his musical voice.

The last day at school is always more or less depressing. With tomorrow a new phase of life was to begin for Winifred Scott. She felt that she had no especial work to do in the world. She longed to be of use to someone. Her father did not really need her. If she were only a man, she, too, could be some sort of a reformer As it was, might she not do something even in a small way to help on this man's work among the poor and down-trodden?

She could promise nothing She was so ignorant of her father's affairs that she did not know if he was what the world would consider rich She dared not ask him. Some time she would ask Donald Muir about her parent's finances.

"I hope I shall see you often in New York, Mr. Rankin," she ventured at last.

Richard Rankin turned to her eagerly. "You surely will—if you will allow me to call," he replied, a brilliant smile lighting up his black eyes

"I know so few people besides those among whom I work that it would be like a draught of water to a thirsting soul to have an occasional talk with you"

His soft Southern inflections made all that he said seem of especial significance. The girl thrilled at the prospect of inspiring this lonely man in his unselfish work.

He had bade the pair farewell and gone into the school to say farewell to Miss Hall when Mary Dallas spoke suddenly.

"He is either a remarkable man—or—something else!" she affirmed.

"What do you mean?" Winifred questioned, surprised.

"I mean he is either very good and very lovely—or he is very clever—and a bit dangerous," Mary explained.

Winifred's face flushed with indignation. "Anyone who can read human nature must see that he is sincere and good!" she declared. "One could not be mistaken in a man with a voice and eyes like his."

PACKERS PROFIT ON TUBERCULARS

Purchase Condemned Cattle At Fraction of Regular Price.

Owners, State and Federal Governments Are Heavy Losers.

Governor Bryan's charge that cattle condemned as tubercular by veterinary testers are afterward bought up by packers at very low prices, although in most cases the carcasses are passed by government packing house inspectors as wholesome for food, and the meat is sold at regular rates to the consuming public, finds confirmation in the case of a shipment of such condemned animals from the Polk county farm of Otto Kummer.

Fifty-five Shorthorn cows in Mr. Kummer's herd reacted to the tuberculin test and were tagged for slaughter. They were appraised at the aggregate value of $3,350, or about $61 a head. They were all young animals, weighing from 650 to 750 pounds each and, in two or three instances, a little more. Cows of such age and weight usually bring good prices on the market as their meat is tender and well-flavored.

On the day when this bunch was sold at South Omaha, the prices paid for scrub stockers ranged from $4 to $5 a hundred pounds. These young Shorthorns, raised as blooded stock, brought only $2.50, that being the day's price for "canners," which is the stock market term for old, skinny cows whose meat is too tough to find a ready sale as ordinary beef.

No report is at hand showing how many of the carcasses were passed for food after being slaughtered, but in many similar instances which have come to the notice of the state agriculture department the proportion accepted and branded by government inspectors as good meat has ranged from 80 to 90 per cent.

Agriculture Secretary Shumway points to the case of the Kummer cattle as proof that the bovine testing law enables the packers to increase their profits at the expense of farmers and the state and federal governments.

In this instance, animals appraised at an average of $61 a head were bought by the packers at $13.84 a head, and the owner got only $861.14 salvage from cattle worth $3,350, Shumway reports. The state of Nebraska paid indemnities to the amount of $729.42, and the federal government a like amount. The owner received altogether $2,319.98, or $64.18 a head.

Mr. Shumway believes further investigation would show that the packing houses made a bigger profit off the carcasses of these cattle, purchased as they were at a ridiculously low price, than they realized from other animals of the same grade bought the same day at regular market rates.

SMALLPOX CASE IS QUARANTINED

Salesman First to Come Down With Malady Since Summer of 1922.

The first case of smallpox in Lincoln since the summer of 1922, was quarantined Friday morning when the restriction was placed on the home of Louis C. Brown, 415 North Twenty-eighth street

According to health authorities, Brown, who has been sick for two weeks, contracted the disease while traveling as a salesman.

There are six children in the family, two university students, and but one has been vaccinated, Dr. Chauncey Chapman says.

Humane Society Superintendent Orders Lincoln Dogs Quarantined

"Your dog is quarantined."

da aternoon -E CCCyfyb.-shrdluu

That was the notice served Thursday afternoon by C. E. McClain, superintendent of the Humane society, on every dog owner living in the district bounded by L and N streets.

The action of the Humane society superintendent was taken as the result of the fear among persons living in the district, that the animals might have been bitten by the dog which, a few weeks ago attacked two little girls. The children ,according to attending physicians, have not been responding to treatment as they should, and it is thought perhaps they may be developing rabies

Superintendent McClain announced that the dogs will be kept confined for at least ten days, and closely observed for indications of being mad. Complaints have been made, he said, by the principal of the Hawthorne school, that a number of dogs in that part of the city have been running out of yards and frightening the teachers and pupils.

Commenting on the action of dogs with rabies, Superintendent McClain said there is little danger of a mad dog biting people if they keep out of the direct line in which the animal is running. He said that a dog with the rabies will never swerve so much as an inch to attack or bite any object. He will, however, snap at or bite any object that comes directly in its path, he said.

There has not been a case of rabies in Lincoln during the two years, Mr. McClain has been here, he announced. He said that it was unlikely the two children who were bitten recently would develop rabies.

MOVES TO AMEND CHARTER OF CITY

Cowgill Wants Provision For Creating Sidewalk Districts.

Says Change Would Insure Uniformity Of Grade and Construction.

City Commissioner Allen P. Cowgill filed with the city clerk a resolution which seeks to amend the sections of the city charter relating to the construction of sidewalks on the same basis as the laying of paving.

Under the resolution, if approved by the council, the city attorney will draft an amendment to the charter which provides that sidewalk building be done by districts and not individually by the property owners at at the present time. The adoption of the measure will mean the creation of sidewalk districts and the letting of contracts for the laying of walks just as is practiced in putting down pavement. Under an amended charter the city could establish uniform grades throughout the city and grading work could be carried on without any chance of interruption

Commissioner Cowgill said Friday that he was submitting the proposed amendment for the reason that "Lincoln has stepped from the village class into that of a city and before anything constructive can be accomplished in the building of sidewalks, we must have real city regulations governing the sidewalk problem." He said that the present laws dealing with sidewalks are inadequate and out of date.

The resolution also provides that the charter be amended so that city authorities can go anywhere and cut weeds without notice being given to the property holder to have them cut This provision, Mr. Cowgill said, is being put in so as to give the city control over all properties owned by non-residents. The same reason was advanced for wanting the change in the sidewalk provisions of the charter.

If the resolution is adopted by the council it will be submitted to the voters of the city at the next election

Gregory Probably Is To Be Relieved As Special Counsel

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Indications were given at the white house today that Thomas W. Gregory, former attorney general, would not be employed as special counsel in the oil land lease cases in view of the testimony today of E. L. Doheny before the senate oil committee.

A formal statement issued at the white house said that such employ "might be an embarrassment to Mr. Gregory and perhaps otherwise would be improper."

National Welfare Depends On Type Of Farm People

"The welfare of the nation depends upon keeping happy, prosperous high type of home making people on the farm," declared Prof. W. L. Ruyle, director of rural extension at Nebraska Wesleyan, Thursday in addressing a meeting of Wesleyan students.

"Real wisdom and brain power are required to make a successful farmer or leader in the country," continued the speaker A few of our college graduates are going back to the country. Many will go into a trade or into some professional work in the rural community but usually with the idea of staying but a short time, until a promotion comes. The prevailing idea of a promotion is a move to the city.

"The farms are producing more food stuff than is consumed. We do not need more people on the farms. What we need is a high type of farmer better trained and with more native ability. It is a sort of prevailing attitude that one who spend his life in a farming community is a small man. People of the country are leaving in a large measure the rural sections. While 54 per cent of the population today is classed as urban, yet in the remaining 46 per cent there are two and a half million more children under the age of ten years. From the standopint of these numbers the country has the future citizenship of the nation.

"We need to glorify rural community service as we have glorified missionary service. The idea that the farmer's problem is merely for the farmer is a very meager conception of the case. The farmer's problem is a national problem. It must be solved in the light of the whole nation. We keep drawing from the country the most vigorous of our young people. We send them to the cities and leave those who are less vigorous, with less initiative to the rural community and put upon them the problem of training our future citizens.

"There is a decided challenge to the college trained young person to invest his life in the rural community. Fro mthe standpoint of home builder the college man and woman make a meager contribution to the rural community. College graduates, if they think of the rural community at all, think of it as a place to teach and practice some profession, seldom with the idea of founding homes and rearing children. As a class the college graduate is a poor home builder, due to the fact that so few of them actually rear children.'

CONCERT AT WESLEYAN BY RUSSIAN QUARTET.

Music of the old and new world was satisfyingly presented Thursday evening by the Russian Cathedral quartet at Nebraska Wesleyan. The concert was a part of the Wesleyan Y. M. C. A. lecture course, directed by Louis Austin.

The singers were Nicholas Wasilevsky, L. Pavloff, Andrew Gragorieff, Mikhael Bataeff. The piano accompanist was Nelson Kennedy. Dean Parvin Witte introduced the musicians. Generous applause persuaded the performers to give many delightful encores. The quaint black and red costumes of Russian cathedral singers in their a 'capella first number added to the foreign effect.

The alternating of American melody with European music, folk songs and selections from the masters, produced an increasing effect upon the adience which gave every evidence of appreciation.

The program was as follows:
Praise the Name of the Lord.
Blessed is the man.—Quartet.
Dawn—
The Rosary—Nevin.
Quartet.
Rhapsodie in G minor—Brahms.
Cabaletta—Lack.
Mr. Kennedy.
Two Grenadiers—Schumann.
Just Awearyin' for You—Carrie Jacobs Bond.
Mr. Griegorieff.
Vanta Tanka—Messrs Bataeff and Wasilewsky.
The North Star—
Somewhere a Voice is Calling—Mr. Pavloff.

Mrs. J. H. Bell.

Mrs. Bell proved her own theory by stepping into her husband's shoes when he died and managing the Salina Water Works, the only woman in the United States to hold such a position. Friends said she could not do it but she did and successfully.

Music Notes

That music has a true therapeutic effect on tuberculosis patients and makes them more susce ptbeotil beneficial effects of rest and good food was the recent statement of Ar-E Sproul of the New York Tuberculosis association. Writing of music's help in fighting tuberculosis, Mr. Sproul said:

"In the effective treatment of the 'white plague' the matter of building up a proper mental attitude in each patient, and of maintaining it steadily, is becoming increasingly recognized as of the highest importance.

"In other words, it is not only necessary to give good food, to build up the body and to provide plenty of rest, but it is equally required to stimulate cheerfulness and hopefulness in the patient and to induce in him a condition of mind in which he will be willing to fight for his recovery.

"So universally is this recognized today that steps are being taken pretty generally in tuberculosis hospitals and sanatoria to relieve the dull and dreary monotony of hospital or sanatorium life and to cheer the patients and to bring about conditions which will make it easy for them to attain this right mental attitude. The New York Tuberculosis association, realizing that this new factor in the treatment of the disease is not only important but really vitally necessary, has now undertaken to supply to the tuberculosis hospitals in New York programs of entertainment.

"During the present season, as a beginning, we are providing at these institutions concerts by amateur bands. It has been discovered that the average person dearly loves band music, and in our contact with these institutions have become quite cheerful over the possibility of having these band concerts.

All of these entertainments have been greatly enjoyed by the patients, but, at best they last only a short time and the intervals between seem long. Some method of more continuously holding the mind seems desirable, and a start has been made along that line in providing a very well-equipped portable radio outfit, equipped with loud speaker, at the Metropolitan Hospital on Welfare Island. The broadcasting stations are supplying from early in the morning until late at night excellent programs of concerts, both vocal and instrumental, as well as lectures and other entertaining things.

"The patients at the Metropolitan have very greatly enjoyed what has come to them over the radio outfit there and it seems to be filling the need of more or less continous diversion most effectively.

"The Municipal Sanatorium at Otisville is equipped with a similar outfit, as is also St. Anthony's hospital in the Borough of Queens. In this latter institution the radio outfit was largely built by one of the patients.

"That all these entertainments give pleasure to the patients perhaps it would be unnecessary to state; but it is not sufficient that they give entertainment merely—they must, in addition, have a true therapeutic effect upon the patients and make them more susceptible to the beneficial effects of the rest and good food. That such is the case we are assured by the physicians in charge of the institutions which have so far, been served with these programs."

According to an announcement by Ben F. Pearson, president of the Civic Music and Art association of Los Angeles, arrangements have been completed with the national organization of Community Service, Incorporated, for the utilization of the services of Alexander Stewart, a member of its national staff, as executive director of the local organization. Mr. Stewart will give his general supervision to the executive work of the Civic and Art association and will also devote considerable time to extension work along the lines of community music under the auspices of the University of Southern California extension division.

Beginning in February, Mr. Stewart will conduct a class in community musi cand training of community choral leaders at the University of Southern California under the joint auspices of the extension division and the College of Music.

Leave of absence has been granted Mr. Stewart by Community Service in order that he may devote himself to this special work.

For the last three years Mr. Stewart has been director of music for Community Service for the Pacific coast district, comprising some twenty-five cities. He was a pioneer of the Pacific coast in the music week movement and organized the first music week in California at Long Beach in 1921. Following that he was the organizer of music weeks in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Sacramento, Modesto, Visalia and other communities. He was assigned to Los Angeles last Spring as executive director of Los Angeles music week and retained there by the Civic music and art association following music week to assist in its organization plans.

Before the world war, when he entered the work of the war camp community service as community organizer of recreation for service men in the cities near the army camps, Mr. Stewart was prominent as choral director, choir leader and violin instructor in San Francisco and Oakland. In 1915 he was director of the chorus of 135 voices composed of singers of the East Bay communities, which successfully competed with the Welsh choir from Chicago in the competition for the $10,000 prize offered by the Panama-Pacific exposition in the International Eisteddfod. The contest was decided a tie, each choir being awarded $5,000

Mr. Stewart was formerly state president of the California Music Teachers association and was for two years president of the San Francisco Musicians' club, composed of men of the musical profession of San Francisco and vicinity.

He was also choir leader of the First Congregational church of Oakland during the pastorate of Dr. Chas. R. Brown, now dean of Yale Divinity school, and choral director and violin instructor at Mills college.

Her rendition of Schumann's "Traumerei" on her violin before a special board of inquiry at Ellis Island convinced the immigration authorities at New York that Regina Kohn was entitled to classifcation as an artist, and on her admission to the United States. She had been threatened with deportation because the Rumanian quota was exhausted when she arrived aboard the Celtic Miss Kohn is a Hungarian, but the part of Hungary in which she always lived is now occupied by Rumania and its inhabitants are classified as Rumanians under the immigration regulations.

Her case came up before the board and Miss Kohn was informed by the chairman that if she could play the "Traumerei" well enough she would be admitted as an artist; if not she would be deported. Feeling as if she had "one foot in America, the other in Europe," as she expressed it afterward, she played the composition so artistically on a violin she had with her that she was told she could enter at once. So feelingly did she play that she broke down and wept in the midst of the piece, but controlled herself well enough to finish

Miss Kohn, who is 35 years old, has taught hundreds of children in her native land, but seldom has played in public and then only in her own city of Nagy Warad. She intends to open a studio in New York and possibly give concerts

GIBBONS INSISTS ON SQUARE DEAL

St. Paul Tommy Can't Figure Firpo Worthy Foeman For Dempsey.

Points to Own Performance In Holding Own With Jack For 15 Rounds.

NEW YORK., Feb. 1.—Tommy Gibbons is a sorely puzzled youth.

"I went fifteen rounds with Jack Dempsey, and he didn't accomplish much more than to knock the part out of my hair," says the St. Paul warrior. "No other man went any such distance with the world's champion. He never had me groggy, never had me staggering and never knocked me down.

"Yet, when I want a return match, there are some folks who hold to the opinion that I am too light for Jack, that I haven't a chance against him, that he will punch me right into the arms of the village undertaker—and stuff like that. But when Firpo's name is mentioned as a Dempsey foeman, everybody says: 'Wow, what a scrap that would be.'

Jack Groggy, But Had Punch.

"Now, get this angle: Dempsey was knocked goofy by a more or less fluke opening punch that Firpo shot against his chin. After that, Jack didn't know what it was all about. He fought by instinct, rather than by brain-directed power. Yet, despite all that, Jack knocked down Firpo nearly every time he smacked the big South American.

"Dempsey had Firpo on the floor six times. Each time Firpo climbed up. He hit him a few more and Firpo went down and stayed right there.

Tom Not Once on Floor.

"I took about ten times as many of Dempsey's punches as Firpo did. I fought a Dempsey who waged the battle with a cunning ring brain to guide him through every minute. I went through 45 minutes of furious fighting with Dempsey and he never floored me.

"Firpo was down seven times and completely out—all in a period of 3 minutes and 57 seconds.

"Yet there are people who think that Firpo is more entitled to a return match with Dempsey than I am. Isn't that a rather puzzling angle, when you figure it all out?

Gibbons Draws Comparisons.

"I imagine that many fight fans think Firpo has a better chance to knock out Dempsey than I have. They think he can hit harder. That provokes from me this little comment. If I had been given all the chances to land solid smashes on Dempsey's chin that Firpo had, and if I had landed as often as Firpo did, then I'd be champion of the world—not Jack Dempsey.

"When Dempsey fought me, he fought as carefully and as cleverly as was possible for him. He took no chances. He kept his jaw covered. When he fought Firpo he was like a wild man. That opening wallop he had to take, took the fighting sense out of him. He was as wide open as the Sahara desert.

Is Firpo Great Puncher?

"Firpo had no trouble walking right in and socking him. And Firpo did that very thing.

"Yet Firpo couldn't knock out Dempsey, all of which, I feel, proves that he is not the great hitter that he is supposed to be.

"I want to fight Dempsey again. So does Firpo. If Dempsey wants to mix it with both of us, that'll suit me fine. If he wants merely to tackle one of us, then I hope Firpo will be game enough to accept my challenge for a mixup to determine which of us is really entitled to another shot at a world's championship."

HUSKERS AWAY TO MEET CREIGHTON

The University of Nebraska basketball squad has no fears of the "thirteen jinx." In fact, Coach W. G. Kline and his Scarlet and Cream jerseyed quintet are inclined to believe that "thirteen" is a lucky number. Thirteen members of the Nebraska squad departed Friday afternoon for Omaha, where the Cornhuskers will meet Creighton university tonight.

Members of the Nebraska basketball squad making the trip are Captain Usher, Cozier, Volz, Goodson, Tipton, Black, Dewitz, Beerkle, Weyant, Eckstrom, Tomes, Close and Dane. Ten members of the squad will continue the journey to Drake and Grinnell as Tomes, Close and Dana will return to Lincoln following the Creighton game. Adam Kroeger, basketball manager, accompanied the team on the three-game jaunt.

Creighton university has not been defeated this season. The probable lineup:

Ward Only Yankee Getting Pay Boost

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—All the world's champion New York Yankees, except Babe Ruth, were mailed 1924 contracts today by Secretary Barrow and it was understood that only one provided for an increase. Ruth has a five-year contract, and Aaron Ward, second baseman, gets the boost. If Joe Dugan's knee has fully recovered when the season begins it was indicated the third baseman's contract would be renewed.

Boosters Add 25 Shares to Baseball List

Approximately twenty-five names were added Thursday to the roster of subscribers to shares in the Lincoln Ball Park association, which plans to take over Landis Field and thereby clinch the transfer of the Sioux City Western league club to Nebraska's capital city.

The list to date includes more than seventy subscribers. Hustlers taking part in the Thursday drive had not filed a complete report today with Carl A. Stein, vice-chairman of the campaign, but the following additions to the list were announced at noon by the vice-chairman:

Beltzer Bros. & Moon, 5 shares.
Woods Brothers, 3 shares.
Frey & Frey, 2 shares.
Gillen Candy Co., 2 shares.
Frank H. Woods.
Cornell Supply Co.
J. C. Ridnour Co.
Frank B. Sidles.
Speier & Simon.
Grainger Bros. Co.
Capital Supply Co.
Schwarz Paper Co.
S. S. Seely.
C. M. Salem.

Price Includes Territory.

Press dispatches from Omaha have quoted R. R. Grotte, president of the Nebraska league, to the effect that the State loop will not stand in the way of Lincoln's advancement to the Western league, "provided the Western makes satisfactory arrangements by purchasing the Lincoln territory." This particular statement justifies the suggestion that the Nebraska league executive has not closely scanned the constitution of his organization.

When the Nebraska league was organized two years ago, a constitutional clause was adopted which provided that purchase money for territorial rights would go in full to the club owning the territory. The owners of the Lincoln club, having in mind the likelihood that the capital city eventually would return to the Western league, drafted the clause in question and the league vote in approval was unanimous.

In event the Nebraska leaguers demand hard cash for the Lincoln territory, the money involved would go to the owners of the Lincoln State league franchise. The $20,000 price put on Landis Field includes "territorial rights," from which it is evident that the situation justifies no worry on the part of capital city boosters for Western league ball.

Subscribe for Five Shares.

In announcing today their subscription of five shares in the park association plan, the owners of Landis Field explained they wished to do their bit toward clinching Western league ball for Lincoln for the reason that "Lincoln fans apparently want the Western and it's up to us to help make it go, rather than stand in the way."

"Buck" Beltzer, president of the local State league club, said:

"Our $20,000 price includes territorial rights and all equipment at Landis Field. Most of the State league towns feel that their league would be better off without Lincoln, as several towns have been holding back and not joinin gthe league because of the belief they could not hold the pace with the capital city. I shall attend the State league meeting in Grand Island, scheduled for Feb. 6, but I rather question that the Nebraska league will operate next season. The cards seem to be stacked for organization of a Tri-State league, which probably will include at least four of the cities now holding franchises in the Nebraska league."

TENNIS CHAMPION IS STANDING PAT

Bill Tilden Declines to Take Orders From High-Brows of Racquet Sport.

Will Quit as Player If Not Allowed to Add to Income As News Writer.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.
(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 1. — William T. Tilden and the United States Lawn Tennis association will take up the moot question of when does a tennis player cease to be a writer, if ever, at the annual meeting of the organization tomorrow afternoon.

It promises to be one of the big moments of lawn tennis. Politics and blackjacks will be checked out with the hats.

Out of the mele will come the intelligence as to whether Tilden will continue to represent America as the greatest player the sport has known, or drop out of amateur competition by request.

The meeting will be asked to decide the issue by vote. It will have placed before it the recommendation of the executive committee that, after January 1 next, no ranking player be allowed to write tennis articles "for pecuniary gain," under pain of losing his amateur status.

Tilden Standing Pat.

The measure was and is directed at Tilden, Vincent Richards and other stars, and in the case of Tilden, will most certainly result in his permanent retirement if passed.

"I will not give up my writing, no matter what happens," he told the writer recently. "If a few men in the head of the tennis association wish to legislate me out of the game let them do so. I will not be dictated to when I know that I have done no wrong and am an amateur, heart and soul. My decision on this point is final."

In brief, the question of power has come to a showdown and, according to some accounts, Tilden holds the cards. The measure needs only a majority vote for passage, but it is said that a quiet, discreet canvass of the association has revealed a majority for Tilden.

West and South Oppose East.

The New York delegation is solidly behind the executive committee and is trying to swing New England into line with reasonable chances of success. Philadelphia and the middle Atlantic district in general have gone on record as favoring Tilden. Victory will be gained or lost, therefore, in the west and south and these sections are said to be for Tilden.

The executive committee, said to be knowingly facing defeat, held a star-chamber dinner not long ago at which peace with Tilden is alleged to have been established. If so, it is possible that an announcement to this effect may be forthcoming following the committee meeting today.

BULLDOGS RALLY; DEFEAT BRONCHOS

Cotner Spurt In Second Half Decides Game In Favor Of Bethany Quint.

HASTINGS-WESLEYAN TONIGHT

Hastings college and Nebraska Wesleyan will meet tonight on the University Place court. The game is booked for 7 p. m.

BY GREGG M'BRIDE.

The ability of Captain Ray Borgaard of the Cotner Bulldogs to connect with the basket from long range enabled the Cotner basket-tossers to come up from behind and defeat Hastings college Thursday night, 16 to 14.

The Bronchos grabbed a 12 to 8 lead during the first half and held the advantage until late in the second half, when a pair of baskets from the floor by Captain Borgaard won the game for Cotner.

Both teams presented a fast brand of floor-work and a well played five-man defense which worked effectively on the small Bethany court. Captain Borgaard, with five baskets, featured the Cotner play, while the guarding of Captain Schneider and Dreibelbis and the floor work of Poore were the bright spots in the play of Coach Holste's Hastings five.

Bronchos Off In Lead.

Poor's two field goals and Anderson's free toss enabled Hastings to hold a 5-0 lead at the close of the first ten minutes. Manning and Ray Borgaard then connected for long baskets and the Bulldogs were close on the heels of the speedy Bronchos.

Conklin and Poore resumed the scoring for Hastings and the Broncho five was off to a 12 to 8 lead at half-time.

The second period was a warmly contested affair. After five minutes of milling up and down the court, Stearns came down from a guard position and scored beneath the basket on a follow-in shot. Clark made it twelve-all with a toss from the side.

With five minutes to play, Ray Borgaard sunk a long shot, but Poore of Hastings came back with a goal from back of the foul ring. The score was fourteen-all until the last fifty seconds of play, when the Cotner captain scored the winning basket from beneath the hoop. It was the fourth victory for Cotner in six state conference games. The score:

SMASHED FINGER 'MADE' SHOCKER

Broken Digit Turning Point In Career of Brownies' Pitching Star.

New Crook In Finger of His Hurling Hand Gave Him Skill and Stuff.

All the commotion Urbna Shocker created through tsese wintry days never would have happened at all if Urban hadn't busted a finger back in 1913.

The fracture of that digit not only caused Shocker to decide to be a pitcher, instead of a catcher, but accidently seems to have made him one of the great moundsmen of today.

"I'm not advising all youngsters to get themselves a crooked finger," says Shocker, "but I will say that the twisted finger I own, as he result of the accident more than ten years ago, is in a very large measure responsible for my pitching success."

Started As Catcher.

The hurling star of the Browns was born in Cleveland. He started his professional career with the Windsor, Ontario, team in 1913. At the time he was undecided to be a catcher or a pitcher. Some days he was behind the bat; other afternoons he worked on the mound. One summery afternoon, while catching in Ottawa, a fast ball broke the third finger of his right hand. That laid him up for quite a while. When he returned to practice, and began throwing the ball around he noticed that when pitching, it took a more peculiar twist than ever before.

Crook In Broken Finger.

"The broken finger had mended—but not perfectly," relates Shocker "A crook remained. It was bent in such a way that it enabled me to grasp the ball a little more firmly than ever before. I would fit the baseball in my right hand, wedge it in against the bent finger, and then throw. The crooked finger gave he ball an odd twist, which fooled the batters.

"The outstanding peculiarity was that I never was able to throw a good drop ball before my finger was broken. Afterward my drop became the best thing I had.

Sticks to Pitching.

"Of course, as soon as I found I was pitching puzzling baseball and winning more games than ever before, I gave up all thought of being a catcher and have stuck to the pitching part of the game ever since."

The Yankees bought Shocker for $750 in 1915. Although he won five games out of seven for them, they sent him to Toronto. There he won fifteen out of eighteen in 1916 and was recalled by the New York team. In 1917 he triumphed eight times in thirteen starts—but still the Yanks couldn't "see" him.

Got His Chance With Browns.

So Shocker was traded to the Browns and, given a fair chance and plenty of work, quickly became a satellite.

All went well until the fall of 1923. Then Shocker wanted to take his wife on a trip with the team. The club rules barred it. Shocker quit the club, was fined $1,000 and was suspended without pay.

That started things. Shocker appealed his case to Landis and, among other things, asked to be declared a free agent.

Makes Peace With Chief.

The affair created much furore. It ended when Shocker withdrew his request to Landis and made peace with the Browns.

All's well that ends well—but the point is that all the tumult and the shouting never would have occurred if Shocker hadn't broken a finger and thus became great in baseball's hall of pitching fame.

PILOT OF HUDKINS GETS BACK AT BAT

Manager Reed Ready to Sign For Glove Rumpus On 75-25 Basis.

The signs are unmistakable that the leather-pushers are "smoking up" another mitten carnival at the City auditorium. Bat Strayer, local lightweight scrapper, and his business pilot, Billy Hale, broke loose recently with a pronunciamento that nothing would be quite so pleasing in the Strayer camp as the opportunity to sign up for a glove encounter with Ace Hudkins, local rival of Strayer for the lightweight premiership of the state.

"Strayer isn't so anxious to get at Ace as he is making out," was the retort which came from the Hudkins camp today.

Manager Harry Reed was speaking on behalf of Hudkins.

"Bat is hitting the ball pretty well as a publicity chaser," Manager Reed asserted, "but that won't get him anything when he climbs through the ropes and squares off against Ace. I suspect that Bat's anxiety to sign up for a Hudkins bout is the manufactured article, instead of being genuine. Now if Bat and his manager are so confident of the outcome, we are ready with a proposition.

Reed Names His Terms.

"Ace will box Strayer in a ten-round main event at the City auditorium under these conditions: Strayer must come in a legitimate lightweight scaling 135 the afternoon of the bout, and the purse must be divided on the basis of 75 percent to the winner of the decision and 25 to the loser. We really prefer to make it winner-take-all, but Strayer perhaps is entitled to something for training expenses, so we concede the 25 percent to the loser. We want to be fair with Bat, so propose a loser's end.

"There has been considerable talk of a Hudkins-Strayer bout, but it is just talk to date, as nobody has come forward with a contract and asked us to sign on the line."

As Manager Hale has been acting as matchmaker for the National Guard club, it is assumed that Strayer's pilot, if Bat is genuinely anxious to test his mettle with Hudkins, will speedily come along with the contract which Hudkins and Manager Reed aver they are ready to approve.

BIFFERS OF CLASS IN OMAHA ARENA

(Special to The Star.)

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 1. — Jimmy Jones of Youngstown, O., one of the leading contenders for the world's welterweight boxing championship, will meet Morris Schlaifer of Omaha in a ten-round bout here Thursday night, February 7, at the Omaha auditorium.

The bout is being staged by the Omaha Athletic club and marks the debut of that organization in the promotion of professional boxing bouts. Heretofore, the O. A. C. has only staged amateur bouts.

Jones sprang to fame in boxing circles, when on March 17, 1922, he defeated Dave Shade of New York at Canton, O. To set at rest any claims that his victory was a "fluke," Jones again defeated Shade at the ball park in Boston last summer, winning the decision in a fifteen-round bout.

Draw With Champion.

Jones has not been defeated in the past eighteen months. A short time ago he boxed Champion Mickey Walker in a no-decision bout at Newark, N. J., the newspaper men at the ringside calling the bout a draw.

Among the men defeated by Jones in his recent bouts are Billy Wells, Paul Doyle, Eddie Shevlin, Tillie Herman and other leading contenders.

The Ohio boy is a rugged mixer, and has been called a miniature Jack Dempsey because of his aggressive style.

At least thirty rounds of boxing will be offered by the Omaha Athletic club on Thursday's card, according to Promoter Denny Ryan. It is planned to present Carl Augustine, who won a sensational bout over Battling Munroe last week in one of the bouts. Erwin Bige, Ace Hudkins of Lincoln, Sailor Liston and other favorites of Missouri Valley fans will appear in preliminary bouts, according to Promoter Ryan.

MELLON BILL IS TO BE REPORTED WITHOUT CHANGE

Decision Reached Following Approval of Republican Committee Men.

Garner Declares Democrats Will Stand As a Unit to Amend On Floor.

(Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1—The Mellon tax bill will be reported to the house without material change.

This was assured yesterday when republicans on the house ways and means committee approved the surtax and income tax schedules recommended by the treasury. Despite division on surtaxes, they have agreed to stand together in support of the bill's essential provisions in the face of democratic opposition in committee.

The surtax rates, the bone of contention between democrats and republicans, and among the republicans themselves, came to a vote after majority members of the committee had discussed the whole situation with the republican steering committee.

Meeting alone later they first rejected by a 11 to 3 vote a proposal to make the maximum surtax rate 33 per cent, instead of 25 per cent on incomes in excess of $100,000 as suggested by Mr. Mellon

By the same vote the Mellon schedule was approved. Chairman Green of Iowa, and Representatives Timberlake of Colorado, and McLaughlin of Michigan, are understood to have cast the three negative votes.

Reports of the Mellon bill in the house undoubtedly will precipitate an extended floor fight in which amendments under the modified rules will be in order against all of the rates.

Longworth Agrees.

Representative Longworth of Ohio, republican floor leader, who previously had urged a compromise in the committee and who conferred with the majority members just prior to their action, said he had reached the conclusion that it was probably best to report the rates proposed by Secretary Mellon and so infored them yesterday.

While republicans of the committee are pledged to support in committee the rates agreed upon, they are free to support other provisions when the bill is taken up in the house.

Representative Garner of Texas, author of the democratic tax plan, has declared his party would vote as a unit to amend the bill in accordance with the rates he proposed

The republican insurgents, who polled seventeen votes consistently against Speaker Gillett, in the organization fight, also have declared that they will not support the Mellon rates.

Mr Longworth said it was unlikely that a republican conference would be called to discuss the tax bill before it reached the house, pointing out that members of the party could not be bound by a majority vote in such a conference to support the measure.

FIND HEMORRHAGE CAUSED DEATH OF ELDEN BILLINGTON

Examination Reveals Lincoln Man Was Not Victim Of Poison.

Hemorrhage of the brain caused the death of Elden Billington, 24, who was found lying unconscious on the street Wednesday night and died later at a hospital, it was determined at a post-mortem examination of Billington's body at Splain and Schnell's undertaking parlors Thursday evening.

Dr. R H. Sawyer, who, with Dr. W. H Slattery, performed the autopsy, said that the cause of death was not poison. Dr. Slattery stated Thursday that, in his opinion, death was probably due to poison.

Billington was a roofer, employed by the Nichols Roofing company, and lived with his mother and step-father, Guy H. Walker, 2300 Lynn street

OMAHA DETECTIVE SLAIN BY BANDIT

Desperado Fires Six Bullets Into Body Of Frank Aughe.

Had Robbed Drug Store Short Time Before Located By Officers.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 1.—Detective Frank Aughe, 49, veteran police officer, was shot and killed shortly before 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the S. A. Beranek drug store, 1402 South Sixteenth street, by Joseph Dunn, 27, when Aughe with three other detectives attempted to arrest him as a bandit suspect. Joe Salhasek, 17 years old, clerk in the store, was struck in the right leg by a flying bullet.

Dunn had been cornered in the rear end of the drug store by Detectives Frank Killian, William Davis and Frank Murphy. In the store at the time were three women, two children and two men.

"Stand back everyone," commanded Dunn, flourishing his revolver. The women became hysterical and the children and men excited. They ran between the detectives and Dunn's weapon.

"Stand back, I mean it, or I'll kill every last one of you!" Dunn shouted.

Killian and Murphy walked from the door to the south side of the store to get in position to shoot, while Davis tried to motion the women and children aside.

Holds Victim to Him.

Just at that moment Dunn raced to the front of the store Killian nodded to Davis to shoot as Dunn reached the door, but there Dunn met Detective Aughe.

"I'll kill you," the alleged bandit shouted. Aughe threw his arms about Dunn and attempted to push him down. Dunn, however, with Aughe about his neck, whirled in such a position that the officer's back was to the detectives inside the store and Dunn's back to the door, thereby shielding himself.

Six shots were fired in rapid succession. Dunn had placed his gun to Aughe's heart and began pulling the trigger of his revolver.

Davis rushed to Aughe's aid and pushed the two men outside when the officers and the bandit fell to the sidewalk with Aughe on top Killian grabbed the man's gun and Davis pulled him from beneath the wounded detective.

"I'm done, Billy," whispered Aughe to Davis as he rolled over on the sidewalk mortally wounded, "but I'm glad we got him"

Aughe was carried into the drug store until Police Surgeon Rance arrived. He ordered the man taken to the St. Joseph hospital, where the officer died as he was being taken in through the hospital's door.

The man's gun chamber had been emptied, six shots being fired, and all the bullets passing through Aughe's coat. One bullet passed into his body below the heart, causing his death, according to Dr. Rance.

New Bridge Makes Big Improvement

WYMORE, Neb, Feb. 1.—A new steel county bridge is being erected on the Cornhusker highway where the road leaves Wymore going south. The pecullar thing about the bridge is that it is on high, dry land, several hundred feet south of the present channel of Indian creek. But after the laborers get the bridge up, they will make the creek run under it by diverting the channel, and will then fill up the present creek bed and remore a wooden bridge which has been in service for 28 years. The old bridge is too short and sets at an angle in the roadway with a short curve on the north end and the Burlington railway but 300 feet from the curve. The change is made to get a higher and larger bridge, a straight line with the highway, a better and farther view of the railway crossing, and a straightening of the channel.

$200,000 DAMAGE BY OMAHA FIRE

Flames Rage for Four Hours Before They Are Brought Under Control.

(Associated Press)

OMAHA, Feb. 1.—Fire of undetermined origin, which broke out at 2:10 this morning, practically destroyed the two-story building at Nineteenth and Farnam street occupied by the Food Center grocery company and the Keep Dancing academy. Damage to the building and contents was estimated at $200,000. The flames raged for more than four hours before they were brought under control by sixteen companies of firemen.

The blaze started in the basement of the building, firemen believe, possibly from a delicatessen oven located there Guests in a nearby hotel were forced to abandon their rooms when the flames became threatening. Damage to the Food Center tsore, alone, was estimated at $125,000, representing stock and fixtures, which were partially covered by insurance.

W. G. Spain of a real estate firm, lessors of the building, placed its value at $100,000, of which 80 per cent is covered by insurance, Spain believed the structure, which is owned by Edward Riley, former Omaha man, but now of Philadelphia, would be a total loss.

ASKS FAIR PLAY FOR RAILROADS

Hal S. Ray Tells of Plight of Carriers In Lincoln Address.

Says Farmers and Railroads Should Not Work Against Each Other.

Though railroads are the dray horses of the nation and have brought it unprecedented prosperity, they cannot haul the load if beaten and starved by the public, said Hal S. Ray of Chicago to Lincoln Knife and Fork club members meeting for dinner at the chamber of commerce Thursday evening

Mr. Ray is director of public relations and personnel of the Rock Island system, and his address was an attempt to show that the carriers are common objects of criticism for all classes during hard times, although they are in reality owned by the public and make comparatively small incomes.

Struggling hamlets were transformed into cities by the railways, and valueless acres made priceless farms, declared Mr. Ray.

Officials are ready and willing to serve, but the increased costs are unbelievable. Expenses must be met constantly, and there is no source from which to pay except from earnings

"The farmer is hard hit, but it is not the fault of the railroads," Mr. Ray continued. A reduction of rates which would bankrupt the railroads would mean little to individual shippers. Nor would rate reductions on grain be reflected on prices on the farm.

"The farmers and carriers are in the same boat and should be friends, not working against each other."

Mutual understanding between shippers and railroads was recommended by Mr. Ray as a solution to some of the problems confronting them A sound and widespread judgment of the transportation act, which is being attacked, would especially help.

Though not perfect, this transportation act is the best devised so far, and makes plain that the control of the railroads is truly not in the hands of the railroads at all, said the speaker. Its repeal would be a direct reflection on the railroads, and would be an excuse for drastic laws, such as have been passed before. One of the new laws demanding an accounting of the worth of railroad property has caused the public to expend $22,000,000, and the railroads $16,000,000 and its only result has been to show that, after all, the railroads are not over capitalized.

A prediction of brighter times ahead was made by Mr Ray. He asserted that the public will come to recognize that there are now enough restrictions on these public servants.

MINERS APPLAUD SECRETARY DAVIS

Labor Officer Praises Union As "Strongest" In Entire World.

Points to Necessity Of a Selective Plan Of Immigration.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind, Feb. 1.—Tribute to President John L Lewis and other leaders of the United Mine Workers of America "as the strongest men the labor movement ever had, not only in America, but in the entire world,' climaxed the address of Secretary of Labor Davis at the miners' convention yesterday and won overwhelming applause.

Opening his address while the insurgents howled, Secretary Davis defended himself against charges made in printed circulars distributed in the hall and launched into an address given over chiefly to explanation of his stand on the immigration question.

Secretary Davis referred to the fact that the 3 per cent immigration law will expire July 15 and that unless amended will open the flood gates to European countries which have millions waiting, he said, to send in He suggested the necessity of a selective plan of immigration, but added that he would join the stand of the miners' convention and be for total exclusion rather than let immigration be as it has been.

Favors Long Contract.

Secretary Davis drew applause when he advocated a long term wage contract of five years, declaring such wage agreement would bring about a long period of harmony in the coal industry and would eliminate "spot or short coal gamblers—the worst menace of the industry."

He spoke of local strikes as "protests to convey the idea of lack of local confidence that they are getting a square deal" and declared "there is a simple way to correct this evil, by appointment of a joint interpreter of the agreements in each mining district and sub-district."

The chief needs of the coal industry, Mr. Davis set out as:

Peace for a term of years ,elimination of the spot coal gambler; creation of a permanent research bureau in the miners' organization and appointment of interpreters of local agreements to remove the cause for petty local strikes.

In conclusion, Secretary Davis told the miners the way to hold the confidence of the "American people is to keep your contracts."

MIDLAND PLANT SOLD AT AUCTION

Chicago Architect Pays $622,500 For Sioux City Properties.

Disposal Marks End Of Stormy Chapter In History Of Structure.

SIOUX CITY, Feb 1.—The Midland Packing plant was sold at auction yesterday for $622,500 to H. C. Gardner of Chicago, the architect who drew the plans for the building. Gardner declared that he represented nobody but himself and that he intends to operate the plant just as soon as he can procure a clear title

Disposal of the Midland plant marks the closing of a stormy chapter in the history of ill-fated structure and the opening of a new chapter which offers prospects of early reopening of the plant

The Midland Packing company, the collapse of which left in its wake a trail of wrecked banks, ruined fortunes and suicides, was organized here in 1919, with Fred C Sawyer as president; Ben I. Salinger, jr., vice-president; and C. H. Burlingame treasurer.

Capitalizing the company at $8,000,000, the promoters sold and resold stock throughout Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Minnesota.

When the "bubble" collapsed after the plant had been in operation a few short weeks, thousands of small investors who had entrusted their life's savings to the promoters and who had linked their fortunes with the destiny of the Midland were left penniless

Then followed the naming of receivers and several years of litigation and negotiations for the disposal of the property which recently resulted in the appointment of C. W. Britton of Sioux City, as receiver and the court order for the auction of the property

Ben I. Salinger, jr., one of the promoters, is under indictment in federal court in South Dakota for using the mails with intent to defraud. For months Salinger has been fighting efforts to take him to Sioux Falls to stand trial. The case now is before the supreme court of the United States

Foundation Of Citizenship Is Thrift—Matson

"Thrift and Citizenship" was the topic on which C. E. Matson, county attorney, spoke to members of the Boys Leadership class at a regular meeting Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A.

To work today and enjoy greater rewards in the future should be the object of every youth, he said. The foundation of good citizenship is thrift, as is shown by Benjamin Franklin's example.

Obeying every law, no matter how much disliked, must be a principle of every true citizen, Mr. Matson declared.

LEASE FIGHT ON BOTH FLOORS OF U. S. CONGRESS

House Prepares For Action On Walsh Resolution Passed By Senate.

Denby Remains Firm In Determination Not to Quit "Under Fire."

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—Amid a swirl of rapidly moving developments, the Teapot Dome scandal was carried to the floor of both house sof congress today.

While the senate re-engaged in acrimonious debate on the resolution to oust Secretary of the Navy Denby from the cabinet, the house prepared for action on the Walsh resolution, passed unanimously by the upper chamber, directing the president to institute suits to recover the reserve lands declaring the leases to be illegal and to have been made under circumstances "indicating fraud and corruption."

The senate public lands committee met to delve further into the private financial transactions of E L Doheny, lessee of Elk Hills, in an effort to determine whether he had ever loaned or paid money to any government officials other than Fall, and the house naval affairs committee called Rear Admiral J L Latimer, judge advocate general of the navy who stated Denby himself "initiated" the transfer of the oil reserve lands from the navy to the interior department

The white house, meanwhile, pressed forward with arrangements to recover the reserves Thomas Watt Gregory, one of the special counsel named by President Coolidge, was due in Washington today to join Silas H Strawn

Cabinet Meets Again.

At the cabinet meeting today the whole lease question again was up for considertaion

In addition to Doheny, who is under surveillance of department of justice operatives, the senate committee in secret session heard the report of three nerve specialists who were sent to Falls bedside to determine whether he is physically able to come to the capitol to testify

Despite indications that the senate would pass the Denby ouster resolution, republican senators moved today to make the language of that proposal less offensive Senators Ball, republican of Delaware, and Howel, republican of Nebraska, proposed to eliminate Denby s name and substitiue instead that President Coolidge call for the resignation of all officials whose connection with the leasing of oil reserves of the government indicates misfeasance or malfeasance in office.

Denby Stands Firm.

Secretary Denby remained adamant today in his decision not to quit 'under fire" In response to questions whether he would leave the cabinet if the resolution passed, he replied heatedly

"I am not going to resign."

A conference between President Coolidge and Senator Lodge, republican of Massachusetts, and Brandegee, republican of Connecticut, at the white house last night, confirmed that administration leaders will support Denby to the last

In an effort to ascertain whether any government officials dealt in Sinclair stock in the period just previous to the leasing of Teapot Dome to the Mammoth Oil company, the senate committee has subpoenaed officers of Gibbs and company, Washington and New York stock brokers, it was learned Rumors were current in Washington that administration officials had been involved in stock transactions shortly before formal announcement of the lease was made

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

If Mixed with Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep thier hair a good even color, which is an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive—Advertisement

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.

Mixed price movements took place in today's active stock market. Strength of the steels, tobaccos and certain low priced oils and rails were counteracted by the weakness of rubbers and chemicals. Sales approximated 1,100,000 shares.

Stock prices displayed a strong undertone at the opening of today's market. Southern Railway established a record top for all time at 47½ and United States Steel common crossed 107 to the highest price since last April.

Tobacco and automotive issues gave the best demonstrations of group strength.

Foreign exchanges opened firm.

Persistent selling of Davison Chemical which extended its loss to 2 points, and the Pan-American issues east of one, temporarily checked the upward movement. With the exception of the steels and a fed isolated rails and specialties, the general list showed a tendency to sag when the initial burst of buying had abated. Rubbers again turned heavy on reports of Kel ly-Spring fieldd rop-recuts, dropping 2 points while Liggett and Myers Tobaccos issues broke 9 points each in reflection of an additional stock issue.

Call money opened at 4½ per cent.

The big four shares figured only conspicuously in the early afternoon dealings, Baldwin, Studebaker and American Can ruling under yesterday's final prices, while United States Steel merely held its own despite the pronounced strength of the independent steel stocks. Low priced railroad shares followed the advance in New Haven to 20.

The closing was irregular. American Can touched a record new high at 122⅝ before yielding to profit taking in the last hour. Fresh selling also broke out in the Pan-American issues, which dropped about 2 points.

BARNESTON BUILDING.

BARNESTON, Neb., Feb. 1.—A carload of plaster has been received here from Blue Rapids, Kas., and is being applied in the Spencer brick block on Main street. Part of the block was finished last month and is occupied by business firms, and this will complete the entire structure.

Here is a record for a player contributing towards winning from every angle: In a game played September 22, 1891, Portland and Spokane of the Pacific Northwest league were the teams. Bob Glenalvin, playing second base for the Spokane team, had nine putouts and nine assists in a nine-inning game. Glen also made four hits and four runs in four times up, and also stole four bases. There wasn't much more for him to do in that game. Glenalvin was the player who quit a berth in the big show to take a managerial job in the minor leagues when he was going good and had his position cinched.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 1.

WHEAT—Wheat scored a new high record price for the season, September delivery rising to $1.10¼ soon after the opening. Unfavorable weather conditions emphazing fear of crop damage acted as the chief bullish influence. Trading was on a liberal scale with offerings well absorbed. Initial prices, which ranged from ⅛c decline to ⅜c advance, May $1.11 @1.11⅛ and July $1.10@1.10¼, were followed by moderate gains all around.

Later the July delivery, as well as September, surpassed the season's previous top record. Absence of snow covering over most of the winter crop belt was reported. The close was unsettled at the some as yesterday's finish to ⅝c higher, May $1.11⅛@1.11⅝ and July $1.10½@1.10⅝.

CORN—Corn and oats were firm in sympathy with wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, May 79⅞@80c, the corn market sagged a little and then made a general upturn.

Subsequently, with oats again outdoing the season's top prices, demand for corn broadened, May corn at $1 cents over topped the high point of the season. Reports of bad conditions of country roads and danger of corn stocks becoming out of condition had a bullish effect.

The close was unsettled at a shade to ⅜c net advance, May, 80⅜c.

OATS—Oats started at ⅛c off to ⅛c advance, May 49¼c, and later held near to the initial range.

PROVISIONS—Provisions lacked support.

FAME IS FLEETING IN DIAMOND SPORT

Time Takes Its Toll From Cleveland Club, Which Won 1920 World Series.

Life is brief, and fame is fleeting.

To the attention of those who lament the fact that, of Connie Mack's 1910 champions, only Eddie Collins, Stuffy McInnes and Amos Strunk now remain in the major leagues, we commend the case of the Cleveland Indians, who won a world's championship as late as 1920. Only seven members of that outfit are now active players with the club, and of these Guy Morton, pitcher, and Larry Gardner, third baseman, may go on a long journey at any time before the opening of the 1924 season.

The remaining survivors are Tris Speaker, still great but with the tether's end not far distant; Stanley Coveleskie, who is slipping; Joe Sewell, who became a member of the 1920 champions only because of Ray Chapman's unfortunate death; Charley Jamieson just coming to the flush of his ability, and George Burns, who traded away two seasons ago, is now drifting back.

Survivors Not The Stars.

Few of the men mentioned were the stars of the 1920 series, although Sewell did exceptionally well for a kid. Burns drove in the winning run in the final game with a triple and Coveleskie pitched with his customary finesse.

The real headliners, however, were Elmer Smith, Bill Wambsganss and "Duster" Mails. Smith established a world's series record by hitting a home run with the bases filled. He was sent to Louisville some weeks ago by the New York Yankees.

Wambsganss hung up another series record by engineering a triple play unassisted. He was recently traded to Boston in the Burns deal.

Mails Back to Minors.

Mails pitched two sensational games in the series, after making the pennant possible by turning in seven victories as a recruit at the tag-end of the race. He is now somewhere in the Coast league.

As for the others, Steve O'Neill, star catcher of the outfit, has gone to Boston, with Wamby; Jim Bagby, who pitched thirty-one victories for the Indians in 1920, is nowhere in particular; Joe Evans, extra outfielder, is struggling to stick on with the Washington Senators; "Smoky" Joe Wood is a baseball coach at Yale, and "Doc" Johnston, first baseman, was due to lose his job with Seattle at last reports.

Record Shows Jackson Not In Plot To Cheat

BY FRANK G. MENKE.
(Copyright, 1924, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Whenever memory recalls Joe Jackson and the world series scandal of 1919, the thought comes:

Didn't Jackson's overwhelming love for baseball cause him to "double cross" the gamblers to whom he had sold his birthright?

Just the other day, a baseball record book fell out from the files and opened up on the page that embraced the composite scene of the 1919 series.

Looking at it idly, one discovers that in all world series history few ever played more remarkable baseball—so far as cold records are concerned—then Jackson did that year. The figures almost shriek "it's a lie" to the charge that Jackson was one of the guilty; that he took gamblers' money and agreed to "throw" games to the Reds.

During the eight games Jackson had 17 chances in the field—and played each faultlessly He made 16 putouts, one assist and never an error. When one realizes that Jackson is accused of agreeing to "throw" games, the wonder is:

"Why didn't he make an error or two and thus make sure of the White Sox losing the game?"

But Joe Jackson, out there on the ball field, had those 17 chances, some of them difficult, yet each was played perfectly.

But that isn't the most inexplicable thing about the Jacksonian record. His offensive showing is even more puzzling when one remembers that he was accused of being in the conspiracy to play crooked baseball.

Jackson went to bat 32 times, scored 5 runs, made 12 hits and had an average of .375.

Analyzing the Jackson record.

(1)—He made more runs than any other member of the White Sox team.

(2)—He made more hits than ANY player on EITHER team.

(3)—His batting average was beyond that of any White Sox regular—and yielded but little to the greatest hitting exhibited by any member of the Reds.

And yet the world knows that Joe Jackson went onto the ball field through each of those eight days pledged to play the sort of ball that would make his team LOSE.

If a man has promised to play crooked baseball, and then plays superlative baseball, what can be the answer except that his love for the game and the thrilling spirit of contest which it provoked was such that once "play ball" sounded he forgot all else, but the instinctive honesty of a great ball player.

Jackson always has been the pitiful and tragic figure of the sordid expose. Big hearted and crudely genuine, illiterate yet with amazing baseball knowledge, Jackson was the type who made baseball his life.

When the hour of tempetation came, he fell. But there always will exist the thought that his downfall was influenced; others, more dominant, more cunning and more persuasive, must have talked Jackson into going crooked.

If Jackson alone had been approached, the chances are he would have brained the man who made the proposition. But the thing wasn't put up to him squarely by them. Rather it came through teammates who had made the deal, who counted Joe in on it and then talked him into believing that it was "all right."

If Jackson agreed to aid them in throwing the games, if he agreed not to try to win for his team, the fact remains that he hit for .375 and fielded 1.000.

What is the answer?

In 1887, the New Orleans team of the Southern league stole 638 bases in 103 games, an average of over six per game. The famous Athletic club of Philadelphia holds the major league record for stolen bases for a season. In 1887, that aggregation, in 133 games stole 638 bases. Last season in the American league there were stolen 741 bases by the players of the eight teams. Base stealing is certainly becoming a lost art.

It Happened In Baseball

In 1883, the Boston club of the National league won every game it played against the Philadelphia team that season—fourteen in all. In 1885, the Buffalo and Chicago teams of the National league played 16 games and the Buffalo team failed to win a game, Clarkson, pitching for Chicago, won ten of them.

Kansas City's team of 1923 won the pennant in the American association and also won the honors in the "Little World Series," which was about the best any team can do in one season. The K. C. team was a wonderful aggregation and almost every player on its lineup hit at a .300 clip. Zinn and Skiff, the star battery, hit .359 and .335 respectively. Branom, at first, hit .348, Hammond, who plays second, is strictly a .300 hitter. Wright, for whom the Pittsburgh club paid a small fortune, is one of the few shortstops who is a bonafide .300 batsman. Wright batted .313 last season. Blackburne, the third sacker, hit .302. Bunny Brief, who plays almost every position well and is the big noise among this galaxy of .300 sluggers, batted .359 and knocked out 20 home runs. The infield batted .319 last season and hit out 68 homers. A strictly .300 hitting infield, that is, one which includes the battery, is a rarity in baseball, major or minor leagues. The team had an outfield that batted .300 and better, both individually and collectively, so it was not to be wondered at that this aggregation cleaned up everything in sight.

Even when his shoulders were young there was an old head on them; when that famous player and batsman, Billy Keeler, spoke, his utterances were worth listening to. Billy's conversation was terse and always to the point. When the famous G. Tweed Stallings was manager of the New York Americans it was his custom to hold quiz class after the boys finished the morning practice, at which the good and poor features of the game played the day before were gone over and alibis accepted and rejected. Also, plans were laid for winning the afternoon game. Keeler emerged from one of those sessions and one of his friends asked him what came off. "Oh," answered Willie, with gentle sarcasm, "we won that game upstairs this morning; now we are going out to the ball park and see if we can't make it a doubleheader."

From 1907 until 1911, home runs made off Walter Johnson's hurling were about as scarce as genuine bonded liquor in Kansas. On August 29, 1911, Cleveland and Washington were playing. The score in the ninth stood 2 to 0 in Washington's favor, with Cleveland at bat and two down. Easterly was sent in as a pinch-hitter. The players on the Cleveland bench yelled for the catcher to hit out a homer and save a shutout; which was more or less sarcasm. "All right," said Easterly. "Here it goes." Johnson heard the talk and asked McBride at short what he should do. Mac told Walter to fan him. Walter cut loose one of his swiftest shoots and Easterly landed on it. The ball sailed over the right field fence; the second time the feat had ever been accomplished. No runners were on, so no damage was done, but Easterly who, by the way, was hitting .300 that season, did exactly as he was requested.

Bobby Quinn, now one of the magnates of the Boston Americans, holds a record of being the only manager who fired a hurler after he pitched a no-hit, no-run game. William Bryce owned the Columbus club and Bobby Quinn was his right-hand man and business manager. Bryce bought a controlling interest in the Lima, Ohio, club. The manager of that club had hired 40 players and informed Mr. Bryce to that effect. Bryce sent Bobby to Lima with instructions to pick the best and fire the rest—for every mother's son of them had been eating three squares a day at the expense of Owner Bryce. Quinn made the trip and found only 38 players, which was about 24 more than was wanted.

The manager of the Lima club had arranged a game with the Van Wert club for the following day. Quinn picked the sheep from the goats; about 12 qualified and Bobby tied the can to the remainder.

When the team reached Van Wert the next day, the Lima manager suggsted that a big, raw busher, sailing under the name of "Iron Mountain" Miller, pitch the game. "He is a bear," said the Lima manager. "Uncage him," said Quinn, and climbed into the grandstand to watch this coming Mathewson performance.

"Iron Mountain" opened up, but he didn't show anything unusual. Quinn couldn't see even a wrinkle on the ball. The Van Wert players just laid back and wham, bang, one could hear the ball whistle. Alex Rielly, who played with the Indianapolis team later in his career, had 16 drives come his way and captured all of them. The other outfielders were pulling them down against the fence and making one-handed catches after running half a block. The outfielders laid down after each inning. "Iron Mountain" shut out the Van Wert team without a hit or run. He was so puffed up that the buttons flew off his shirt.

After supper, Quinn called the bearcat over to him and informed him that he was fired.

"What, fire me?" he howled. "Didn't you hear all the people talking about it?" "Yes," said Quinn, "That's the reason I am firing you. I heard the people tell all about it."

Gus Krock joined the Chicago team in 1888, from the Oshkosh club with a strikeout record that was amazing and Capt. Anson accepted this record as Krock's chief recommendation. In the first exhibition game that Krock pitched, which was against the New Orleans team in the spring of 1888, "Big Gus" held the N. O. team to four hits and fanned 21 batsmen. Anson was satisfied that he had a find and Krock's record during that season was sensational.

DOHENY SAYS GREGORY WAS HIS ATTORNEY

tion. When he found the negotiations were going to be protracted and expensive, he withdrew when "some one" was found to reimburse him. He could not recall who the "some one" was.

Daniels Attacked

A sharp attack on Josephus Daniels was made by Mr. Doheny in discussing the policy of the former navy secretary in refusing to lease the reserves.

"Mr. Daniels knew there was big companies on the outside taking oil out," he said, "and that to lease the land would prevent them taking it out."

"Do you think he was protecting the big companies?" asked Senator Walsh.

"That's what I said; take it or leave it just as you please," returned Doheny.

"Just what company do you believe Secretary Daniels was trying to protect?"

"The Standard Oil company. He never interfered with them in taking oil out just as fast as it would come"

George Creel Mentioned.

Mr. Doheny said George Creel had told Stack that Mr. Daniels would lease Teapot Dome.

"Who is George Creel?" asked Senator Stanfield, republican, Oregon.

"He was the publicity agent for the democratic administration during the war."

Creel was employed later by Stack, the witness said, to "head off the granting of leases to republicans after the coming in of the new administration.

He added that he gave Stack $5,000 to pay to Creel and that this was part of the $8,250 he had expended in trying to get the lease to Teapot Dome.

"Who is Stack?" asked Chairman Lenroot.

"Adams can tell you, he's from his state," said Mr. Doheny, referring to Senator Adams.

EXPECT CRISIS TO BE REACHED VERY SHORTLY

But those who knew the inside story of the years of solitude through which he has passed, were aware of the delicate balance upon which his physical strength has rested and knew how it has tilted now this way and now that throughout the gallant fight of Dr. Grayson—not only his physician, but one of his closest personal friends—to avert a crisis.

It was for this reason that every disorder, even of the most inconsequential character on its face, has been watched with the minutest care and not without misgivings.

Says Little Hope Held.

Vance McCormick, former chairman of the democratic national committee, indicated that little hope was held by Mr. Wilson's friends, as he left the ex-president's home after a brief stay today.

"He may die today," Mr. McCormick said, "or he might linger over until tomorrow. Of course, when there is life at all, there is always some hope."

The first symptoms of the latest attack developed early this week when Mr. Wilson became a prey to a digestive derangement at first of a minor character, but developing quickly into a condition that at once aroused concern.

Those who lived in the vicinity of his home first guessed that something was amiss when the big automobile presented as a birthday gift a month ago by anonymous friends failed to take the former chief executive for his customary ride.

On Wednesday Dr. Sterling Ruffin who had helped attend Mr. Wilson in his illness at the white house, was summoned by Mrs. Wilson in the absence of Dr. Grayson. He made a careful examination and on Wednesday night gave the public its first real news of the trouble in a statement saying that a complication had developed, but for the moment was not of proportions to warrant alarm. He added that the development was unrelated to the old trouble that had assailed the former president during his western speaking trip late in 1919.

Confirms Diagnosis.

Dr. Grayson, on his return to Washington yesterday confirmed that diagnosis and said he did not at that time regard the attack as serious unless it should fail to yield to treatment.

The change during the night, however, manifestly aroused grave fears of Dr. Grayson and Mrs. Wilson who has been her husband's faithful attendant. Today she notified all the members of Mr. Wilson's family of his condition, at the suggestion of Dr. Grayson. None of his three daughters is in Washington.

For a brief time this morning Dr. Grayson left the bedside of his patient and made a hurried trip to his own home. He did not take leave of the Wilson home even then, however, until he had summoned Dr. H. A. Fowler, a Washington kidney specialist, who had treated Mr. Wilson previously, to remain on watch. Dr. Grayson said the step was taken as a precautionary measure."

News of the change for the worse spread rapidly throughout Washington as alarming rumors were disseminated over the whole country during the night by radio broadcasting stations. Before Dr. Grayson had issued his bulletin, messages of sympathy and encouragement began arriving by the thousands.

President Coolidge was one of the first to convey his expressions of regret.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The center of the area of low pressure has moved from eastern Iowa to eastern Tennessee and the barometer has fallen generally in the states east of the Mississippi valley. The barometer has continued high in Utah and the western and southwestern states. The pressure is low along the northern border of the country extending to the extreme northwest limits of the map.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING.

This sign governs the legs of the Grand Man. It is an aerial, sanguine, masculine, western, fixed, rational, speaking, obeying sign, the negative pole of the Air Triplicity.

In its spiritual duality it is the sign of the Divine Sophia, the attributes being soul, memory and diffusive knowledge. It governs the physical memory.

People born under this sign are said to be the strongest and weakest of the entire Zodiac. They are naturally endowed with great possibilities, which, when understood, and appreciated, take them to supreme heights of usefulness.

The governing planets are Saturn and Uranus, and the governing sign is Aquarius.

While it is still winter, it is the time to look for bargains in real estate. Let The Star Want Ads be your guide.

NEW ATTACKS ON DAUGHERTY

Norris Asks Information Concerning War Fraud Prosecutions.

King Inquires As to Disposition of $1,000,000 Prosecution Fund.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON Feb 1—The two new veiled attacks upon the administration of Attorney General Harry M Daugherty were launched in the senate today while an ouster resolution awaited formal consideration

The move against Daugherty came in the form of apparently harmless resolutions requesting information

The new resolutions were directed toward Daugherty's conduct of war fraud prosecutions One sponsored by Senator Norris republican of Nebraska asked information on charges that Daugherty granted criminal immunity to war fraud grafters in return for cash settlements on the amounts stolen from the government The second fathered by Senator King democrat of Utah asked information on charges that Daugherty has wasted a $1 000 000 appropriation given him to prosecute war fraud cases

Ask Whether Agreement

Norris requested Daugherty to tell whether he had ever entered any agreements with those accused of war frauds to grant immunity for cash settlements alleged to have been obtained from the government by fraud This request was based on a report that such settlements totalled more than $2 500 000 to date It also requested Daugherty to tell what authority of law exists for such settlements

The King resolution asked the attorney general to tell what disposition was made of the $1 000 000 given him by congress to prosecute war fraud cases It also asked on report on what progress was made in each prosecution

King also sponsored a second resolution requesting Secretary of War Weeks to report to the senate the total and individual overpayments made on war contracts These overpayments were said to total $40 000 000

All Worn Out This Winter!

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

DOES winter find you lame, stiff and achy—worried all day long with nagging backache and sharp, rheumatic twinges? Do you feel worn-out, nervous and dispirited—older and slower than you should? Then you should be giving some attention to your kidneys. These wonderful little sponges filter every drop of blood in the body. But winter's colds and chills are apt to weaken the kidneys and weak kidneys allow poisons to accumulate in the life-giving blood, upsetting the whole bodily machinery. Then comes lameness, soreness and stiffness; daily backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness and distressing kidney irregularities One feels constantly tired, nervous, depressed and utterly miserable Don't risk neglect! Help your weakened kidneys with a stimulant diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. Are endorsed here at home Ask your neighbor!
